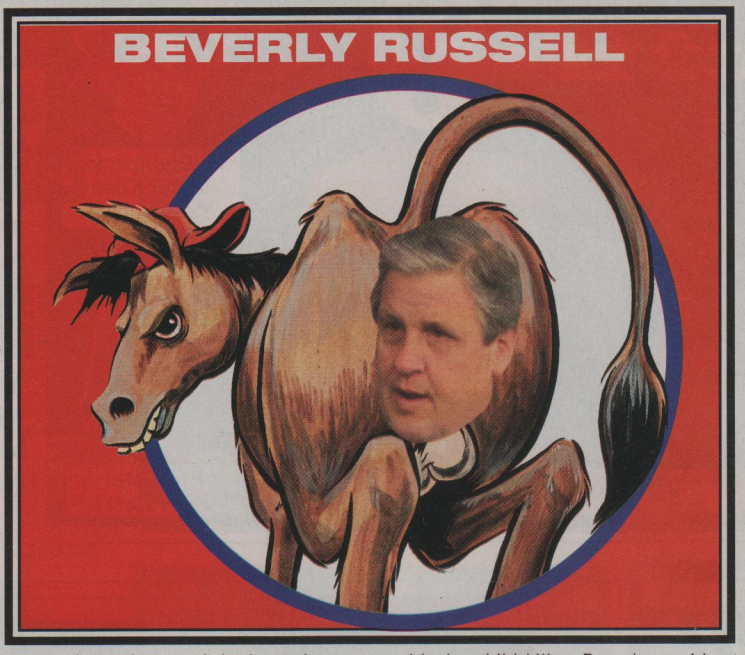
BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH



Beverly Russell, big church man, solid citizen and community leader of Union, South Carolina, you have been selected HUSTLER Magazine's Asshole of the Month for December 1995, and our most dire regret is that the attendant dishonor and shame can do so little to darken the blackness your actions have brought down upon your soul.

In November of last year, on the evening before election day, right-wing cheerleader Newt Gingrich crowed that the case of Susan Smith murdering her two toddler sons "vividly reminds every American how sick the society is getting....The only way you get change is to vote Republican."

Imagine Gingrich's surprise and dismay when the pustulant hidden inner life of Beverly Russell began oozing into the light. Beverly Russell is the stepfather of baby-slaying mom Susan Smith. Russell came into Smith's life when she was eight years old. Susan's blood father had killed himself a year and a half earlier. Susan Smith was in dire need of a compassionate, nurturing, protective male figure. When the future murderer was 15, her stepfather, the man responsible for providing her a safe and secure home environment, began molesting her.

Following Beverly Russell's initial sexual abuse of her, Susan Smith attempted suicide twice during her adolescence. If she had succeeded in taking her own life, Smith's two sons still would not be alive today. However, the boys, Michael three years old, and Alex, 14 months, at the time of their premature, deliberate drownings, might have been spared that ominous roll into the cold, sealing waters of John D. Long Lake if Beverly "Thank You, Jesus" Russell had been less devoted to his holier-than-thou prick.

His stepdaughter's two tries at extinguishing her own life should have warned the adulterer that Susan was emotionally ill-equipped to handle an illicit love affair with the man who was supposed to shelter her from the evils of this world. Beverly Russell taught Susan Smith the time-honored family values of dishonesty, deception and denial.

Despite ample evidence of Smith's precarious instability, her guardian and legal parent, Beverly Russell, continued an ongoing affair with the child killer. Bev slept with her as her marriage crumbled, having her suck his dick mere weeks before she strapped Michael and Alex into their safety seats, and left them in the Mazda Protege to squirm in forlorn terror, watching life outside the car's windows for six horrifying minutes as the vehicle slowly sank to dark, silent death.

Even as the last pathetic bubbles of breath were leaking up from his adoptive grandsons' defeated little lungs, leading-light child molester Beverly Russell was on the executive committee of the state Republican Party, a county chairman of the Reverend Pat Robertson's Christian Coalition and county coordinator of the South Carolina Citizens for Life. Beverly Russell embodied the corps of Newt Gingrich's Republican change.

According to testimony, Bev's earliest tamperings with Susan Smith transpired one March morning after the Christian soldier had been out all night plastering the town with PAT ROBERTSON FOR PRESIDENT posters.

During the nine days in which the slain boys hung upside down at the bottom of John D. Long Lake, Beverly Russell conducted prayer circles, falling to his knees in the Russell home, imploring Jesus to bring the boys back safe and sound to "their mama's loving arms."

If godly Beverly Russell had taken his dick out of their mama's loving mouth long enough to listen to what was going on inside her fucked-up head, that prayer for the children's deliverance might have been answerable.

Like prayers based on bad faith, the real questions raised by Beverly Russell remain unanswered: Bev, did your Moral Majority membership entitle you to indulge in gross immoralities? Whose pussy was wetter: Susan's or her mother's? Was your right-to-life crusade meant to benefit all God's kids, or just your cock? When you picture her in her cell, do you still feel the sleazy wash of Susan Smith's saliva on your righteous dick? The two boys, do you mourn them most because now you'll never get to slide your greasy moralist's prong into either one of them? At what depth, Beverly Russell, does an Asshole such as yourself stop?

Farts in the Wind

Elizabeth Hurley: As girlfriend of whoremonger Hugh Grant, actress/model/breast-carrier Elizabeth Hurley has been afforded a rare opportunity for self-aggrandizement in the face of her boyfriend's embarrassment, and she has exploited every bit of it. Hurley's cagey public displays of private indignation have been widely distributed in newspapers and magazines; she's done a bit on national TV with Barbara Walters. Will Hurley dump Grant, upon whose arm her boobs first gained notoriety, or will she forgive and accept him back? She's not saying. As long as Liz stays mum, her face is in the public eye, movie offers roll in, and she remains two tits on an Asshole.

James Exon: The Democratic Senator from Nebraska went to Congress with a "blue book" of Internet filth and pushed a so-called Decency Act through the Senate. Fight Exon's infringements on free speech and sexual expression. Set your web browser to http://hustler.onprod.com for HUSTLER Online, where Exon always equals Asshole.

We'd Rather He Not Be Alone

Since Evening News co-anchor Connie Chung was sacked in a very public, and particularly embarrassing affair, newsman Dan Rather and his associates at CBS have been looking for the right person to fill the void. Rather, best known for having inspired the uncomplimentary REM tune "What's the Frequency, Kenneth?" desperately needs a soft, pleasant face to offset his not-so-soft, less-than-pleasant countenance. Searching high and low for potential replacements, the network's programming pooh-bahs came up with a few career-oriented hopefuls to help give Dan's ratings an upward slant.

PARODY. NOT TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY. ANCHOR'S HEAD PASTED ONTO OUR MODEL'S BODY.

Pinup Pinings

With velvety-soft brush strokes, a playful sense of humor and an undeniable appreciation of feminine beauty, Gillette A. Elvgren created some of the finest pinup art ever produced. As evidenced by Pin Up Poster Book: The Elvgren Collection (Collectors Press), his paintings are filled with an unassuming innocence that belies the charged sexuality they embody. Delectable girls-next-door smile provocatively or display almost-convincing looks of surprise as they are discovered in varying states of undress. Before there was HUSTLER, millions of American boys and men found their first loves in pinups by Elvgren and his peers. Look for The Elvgren Collection in better bookstores, or contact Collectors Press: P.O. Box 230986, Portland, OR 97281. Telephone: (503) 684-3030.

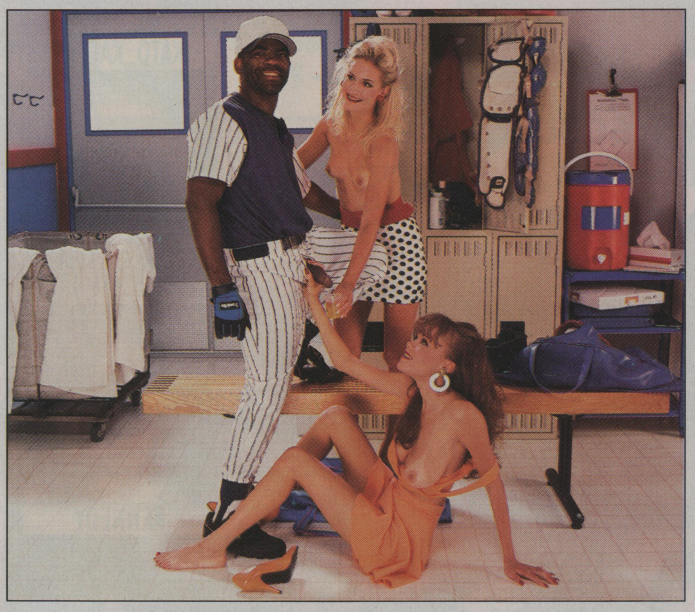
Last month's Bits & Pieces listed an incorrect address for HUSTLER Online. The correct address, http://hustler.onprod.com will take cybersex explorers where they want to go.

Fan Appreciation Lay

The 1994 baseball players' strike did grievous damage to the all-American pastime. Though 1995 World Series fever was detected in some parts of the land, disillusioned fans no longer flocked to ballparks the way they did before the players and owners stripped pro baseball of its dignity.

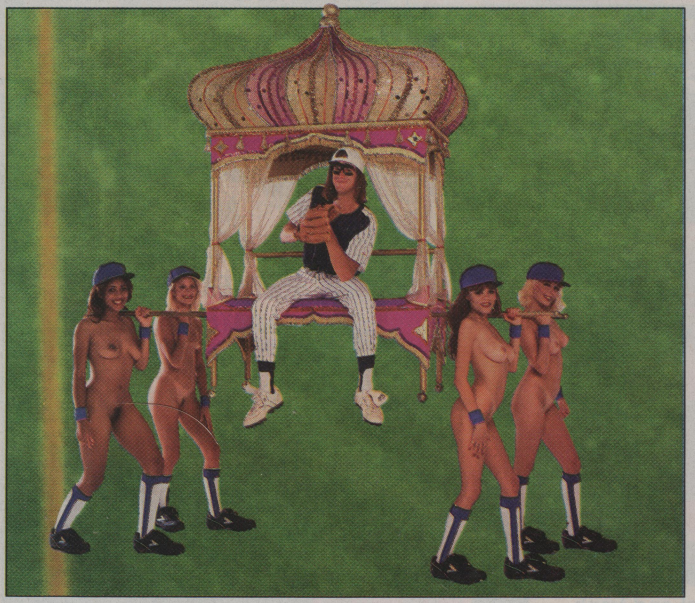
There is hope. Players and owners should team up and give back to the sport that's given them so much. A little fan appreciation could translate into a home run at the ticket counter.

Giveaways go a long way to mollify disgruntled fans. Chili dogs will be free on Seat-Cushion Night.



Get women to the ball game, and men will surely follow. A Ladies' Night ticket lottery puts a pleasant spin on mandatory drug tests. Winning female fans grab their favorite players' bats and balls; and player morale might be lifted as well.

Guy Night should include an extra seventh-inning stretch. Randomly chosen male baseball enthusiasts would be allowed the option to fuck the players' wives, or their mistresses.



How about a more appealing mode of transporting the relief pitcher from the bull pen?

Dragging the infield need not be a drag.

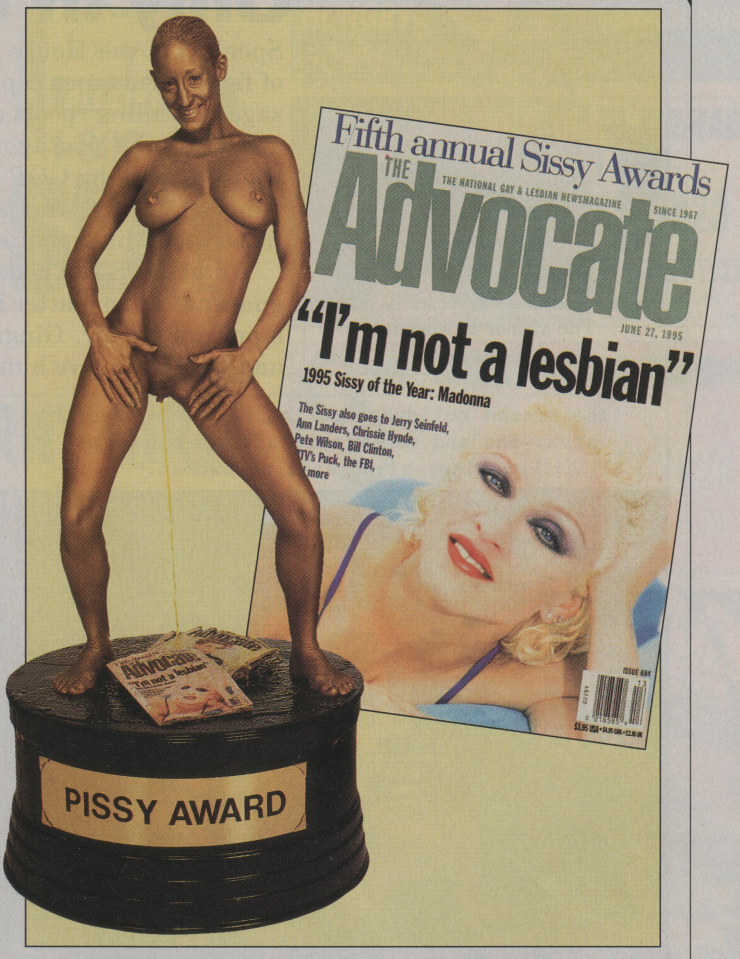
MOST TASTELESS CARTOON

"I don't get it, Bucky. We've been here all day, and no one has been near us."

Piss and Tell



There's a saying about a pot and a kettle that editors at The Advocate: The National Gay & Lesbian Newsmagazine, don't seem to be familiar with. In a paradoxically queer twist of logic, The Advocate annually grants a Sissy of the Year award to a public figure they feel worthy of their urine-drenched scorn. The awards, intended to bring mocking attention to homophobes and anti-gay bigots, waste space criticizing Ann Landers for substituting the word sissies for wimps and Jerry Seinfeld for likening a comedic smooch with his co-star Michael Richards to "kissing a dog."

The ultimate irony is the naming of homosexuality's strongest argument, Madonna, as the Grand Prize Sissy of 1995. She earned the title by blaspheming, "I'm not a lesbian."

The Advocate, it seems, is terrified of offending anyone posing a real threat to gays.

Why would The Advocate be squeamish about making meaningful noise? Because they're pampered, self-important, self-congratulatory assholes—in a word, pissy.

Congratulations to The Advocate on being the recipients of HUSTLER's first-ever Pissy Award. Whine on.

Newt Gingrich UNCENSORED!!! Only in HUSTLER

The author at work in his study.

Speaker of the House Newton Leroy Gingrich is, among other things, a writer of fiction. Advance copies of his most recent novel, 1945, contained graphic passages detailing "pools of blood" and the exploits of a "pouting sex kitten...sitting athwart" the protagonist's chest. Tragically sacrificed to pressures akin to those exerted by GOP hard-liners and Christian Coalitionists, the good parts of Gingrich's tome were excised from the book before it was released to a panting, frustrated, disappointed public.

We at HUSTLER decry the curtailment of any American's First Amendment guarantees, no matter how shrill, wrongheaded and evil-mouthed he might be. We stand up for Mr. Gingrich's option to leave his dirty little bits in his next book, and we'll even give him some dirty little bits of our own to help out.

"The crazed bulldykes pulled on their imposing strap-ons and menacingly advanced upon the quaking, slant-eyed newswoman."

"The crazed bulldykes pulled on their imposing strap-ons and menacingly advanced upon the quaking congressional aberration known as Barney Fag."

"Eventually, the strapping congressman from Georgia found fulfillment as a big Hollywood producer and lived out all his sexual fantasies."

PARODY. NOT TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY. CELEBRITY HEADS PASTED ONTO OUR MODELS' BODIES. ALL FICTITIOUS QUOTES FABRICATED BY HUSTLER'S OWN NOVELISTS.

FEEDBACK

Over There

We have been more than faithful readers of your magazine and have developed an extensive collection of current and back issues. While recently rereading the January 1994 issue, I ran across a Feedback letter entitled "Mission of Mercy," written by S. S. from Marysville, California. This letter was in response to an article in your previous month's issue (Holiday in Somalia: No Hope for the Hopeless, December '93). We were both angered and disturbed by this letter. It made us realize how little many people know about what we do. S. S.'s comment, "I hear about our boys getting killed and say to myself, 'Oh well, they weren't fighting for this country. They were paid,'" is the most disturbing part of his letter. Our men may not have been fighting for our country, but they were fighting for the ideals and freedoms that make our country great. While he was busy expressing his opinions and taking full advantage of his First Amendment rights, we and thousands like us were protecting his rights and the rights of freedom-loving people worldwide. We were not drafted. We all joined of our own free will to defend our country and the very rights that enable this kind of person to bad-mouth the proud members of our armed forces. We are proud to be defenders of our peoples' God-given rights, and are all willing to give our lives to ensure other people the same rights granted to us by our Constitution—and taken for granted by too many of our country's people. It makes us happy to know that we're not just working to protect these ignorant ingrates. We also get to protect respectable and patriotic citizens such as Larry Flynt and the whole staff at HUSTLER, who do their part to preserve our freedom.

—SPC M. R.
PFC J. C.
PFC S. A.
U.S. Army
Vilseck, Germany

The American people are fortunate to have the brave men and women of the U.S. armed forces dedicated to protecting their constitutionally guaranteed freedoms, and it's a shame when people take it for granted. HUSTLER doesn't.

Read On

I'm responding to an article featured on your September '95 issue's cover as BANNED IN AMERICA: GOOD BOOKS VS. BAD CENSORS (Don't Read It and Weep: Book Bannings Are on the Rise). I'm a 20-year-old male who loves reading books and magazines such as HUSTLER. I think it's a bunch of fucking shit that some parents and the Christian community are banning and censoring our reading material. What they are doing amounts to nothing short of communism. Books broaden the horizons of the mind, whether that of a child or an adult. What gives these bluenoses the right to use censorship against classic literature such as Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn and John Steinbeck's Of Mice and Men? We should have the right to choose what we read, not them or the government. They cannot program people's minds like they would program a computer because we'll protect the tyranny of the religious right, and we will not allow them to rob us of the greatest American treasure, the First Amendment of the Constitution.

—W. P.
Inwood, Indiana

Juli: Tooting Her Horn

Exactly. Limiting access to any form of expression is not only dangerous, but in direct contradiction with the ideals on which this country was founded. Censorship is as American as tea and scones, W. P. In other words, it ain't.

Feeling Horny

I want to thank you for producing such a great magazine. I just got the August '95 issue through my new subscription, and I really enjoyed the photos of Melissa (Melissa: Ghost Tail); but I must say, I shot four loads over Juli (Juli: Tooting Her Horn). She can toot my horn any time. I'm in prison, and will be here for the next five years; so please keep my paper pussy coming, along with the great articles and humor.

1995 Beaver Hunt Grand Prize Finalist #4

Photography by Clive McLean

Generous Jessica of Denver, Colorado, first gave her all in HUSTLER's Beaver Hunt in June 1995. She wanted to give more. Luckily, the fourth and final slot in Beaver Hunt's 1995 Grand Prize Contest was still open, affording readers a more liberal sampling of this 24-year-old sales-gal's abundant virtues. Unstinting in her desire to share her booty, Jessie is competing for Beaver Hunt's Grand Prize of $5,000 and an expenses-paid trip to a glamour capital to shoot a HUSTLER pictorial—knowing that if she wins, readers win too.

Any other ladies feeling big-hearted? It may be too late to compete in the 1995 contest, but the search for Beaver Hunt's 1996 Grand Prize Winner has only just begun. See Beaver Hunt (page 121) for details!

telling me there is too much violence and sex in entertainment. If you're scared to get your pecker wet, go to church, but stay out of my life and my business. Parents who are so irresponsible they can't even be guardians of their own children already put pressure on society to put warning labels on music, movies, and magazines. That doesn't seem to be enough. Before we know it, I won't be able to buy my fuck flicks at the video store or be able to purchase this wonderful magazine or enjoy listening to music of my choice. Fuckin' timid assholes need to move to D.C. with all them old ass-lickin' politicians. And then they can all stew together. I think when I get enough money, I'm gonna buy every back issue of HUSTLER, take a trip to D.C. and glue every single pink pussy all over the steps leading up to the Capitol building. Wish me luck. —R. B. W.

El Dorado, Kansas

Before making your trip, R. B. W., call our Subscriptions Department at 800-220-0314, and make sure to get any back issues you may have missed.

Left Is Right

I am a dedicated HUSTLER reader from Indiana. I love your magazine, but I thought I'd let you know, you ought to tell your photographer James Baes to pull his head out of his ass. The August '95 issue feature Lisa and Rick: Drive, She Said has Rick with his tattoos on his right side in every shot except for one in which they are on his left side. So, what the fuck gives? We're not that stoned. I guess someone should take the heat. Sorry, James. Get with the program. Fake tats are for pussies! —J. M. C.

South Bend, Indiana

Observant indeed, J. M. C., but the talented Mr. Baes is not at fault. Sometimes photographic slides get flopped; so it may look like a tattoo has mysteriously changed sides, when in actuality it has not—the film is merely reversed. Don't discount the other possibility: Maybe you are that stoned.

The Hole Truth

Hi! This is regarding the gag in the August '95 issue on page 55, "And Still the World Did Not End!" Why are you so vicious toward Courtney Love? She would seem to be exactly your kind of person. Did she turn you down for a pictorial? What's your problem? What did she do to you? Please explain. —J. P.

Far Rockaway, New York

Courtney Love receives the satiric scorn of HUSTLER Magazine because, simply, she provokes it. A talentless hag, Love successfully manipulates other members of the media into making her something that she's not—interesting. With no voice and no looks, it's hard not to wonder where Ms. Love would be without her departed husband.

Celestial Being

You got the name correct for Angel on page 136 of Beaver Hunt in the August '95 issue. The 22-year-old artist from San Jose is a voluptuous vision of beauty. A lot of guys go for skinny blondes, but I like a little meat on my lady's bones, and I love big tits. Angel has the nicest pair of tits I have seen in a long time. The heaven that I imagine definitely has Angel waiting for me. —A. W.

Crescent City, California

In the Mix

Every once in awhile, I'll buy a HUSTLER magazine. Do not get me wrong. The sex and photography have always been outstanding. But what really disturbs me is that you have never put enough interracial sex in your publication. I have just perused your recent September release. The pictorial Sean and White Dove: Dances with Pussy wasn't bad, but still—it's not interracial enough. White Dove was very close to resembling a caucasian woman. Even the single female layouts are always white. It seems you do not know what interracial sex is. You always have white men fucking colored women who closely resemble caucasoid women. Just like other adult magazine publishers, you people are either extremely phobic about interracial sex, or nothing but racist jerks! Interracial sex is universal. You should have both women and men from all over the world having sex with one another. No more Americans, Hispanics, Rumanians, Italians, Russians, Europeans or anything else that is close to the white race. There should be Africans, African Americans, Chinese, Japanese, Thais and real North American Indians in your issues. No more white supremacy bullshit! What?! Are the major supporters of your magazine from the KKK?! I'm white, and there

COMPULSIVE BEHAVIOR: Mynx makes tattoo-boy Byron.

Compulsive Behavior

FULLY ERECT. Directed by Teri Diver and Tom Elliot; starring Tiffany Mynx, Sharon Kane, Anna Malle, Teri Diver, Nicole London, Debi Diamond, Tiffany Million, Mike Horner, Alex Sanders, Tom Byron, Blake Palmer and Frank Towers. Videocassette: Odyssey Group Video.

Pornographic movies require only that their makers deliver tits, ass, snatch, poles slamming holes, flesh slapping flesh, man-batter mayonnaise leaping from loins, and absolutely nothing else. What a brain-blasting, wad-beckoning treat it is when visionary talent busts the format open and emerges from behind the blue camera as assuredly as anything leaking from the performers in front of it. Case in point: Compulsive Behavior, which delivers directors Teri Diver and Tom Elliot as the most inventively erotic smut maestros since John Leslie and Patrick Collins. Heavy on well-constructed plot and artfully laid out, Compulsive Behavior boasts a pro-am cast numbering in the dozens and a unique, striking editing style that makes the sex scene tally seem like it veers into the hundreds. The multitude of women are gorgeous, the innovative filmmaking techniques are first fucking rate, and the masturbatory moments are innumerable. Compulsive Behavior is Fully Erect.

—Mike McPadden

COMPULSIVE: Boy, Diamond, anonymous boff stick.

Randy West Presents Up and Cummers 17

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Randy West; starring Nikole Lace, Shane Tyler, Heather, Vanessa Chase, Jenna Jameson, Felicia, Ashley Morrison, Marc Wallice, Jake Steed, Alex Sanders and Randy West. Videocassette: Erotica West.

It's been at least a decade now that Randy West has been sensitive about references in the pornographic press to his advanced age. We apologize to the old boy and will do our best to ignore future signs of Randy's encroaching senescence, provided the hoary horn dog continues cranking out prurient tape of the sizzling, nubile, cunt-chewing, choad-reveling, sex-enriched tarts that people his Up and Cummers series. The current Cummers release, number 17, may in fact contain 17 releases of its own. With short, wavy hair, the delicately defined facial bone structure of a Vogue covergirl, the cutest legs since Walt Disney's Bambi, and naturally full and high breasts that automatically direct the viewer's eyes upward in mute, drop-jawed thanks to God above, Vanessa Chase is more beautiful than most of us will ever fuck. She's more gorgeous than we can expect to even see getting fucked, and yet here she is, head languid on hand as Jake Steed powers the entire 40 inches of his biceps-wide sex meat through the clenching rings of her petite pooper. Chase is one of Cummers 17's many. West, you've made everybody feel young again.

—Christian Shapiro

UP & CUMMERS: Nikole Lace leans on loin.

Vice

HALF ERECT. Directed by Toni English; starring Sindee Cox, Tera Heart, Anna Malle, Tammi Ann, Bobby Vitale, Mike Horner and Marc Wallice. Videocassette: Wave.

Two cops. One pimp. Four sluts. Yawn. That's Vice, a pretty, listless porn tape from Wave that at least boasts a lengthy Tammi Ann-Sindee Cox sapphic bathroom tussle up front, exquisitely showcasing each trollop's unenhanced tits, baby-soft pubic blondeness and wicked tongue-to-vulva techniques. Vice also trots out Marc Wallice conjoining his bent banana wienie with Tera Heart's fish-crinkle and feces valve. Greasebag Bobby Vitale violates Anna Malle assholewise; Cox mouths Malle about the mons; and Heart hops between Vitale and Mike Horner for a so-so double stuff. Vice is sinful, routine smut.

—Selwyn Harris

VICE: Wallice wiggles Heart's hard wobblies.

Starlet

ONE-QUARTER ERECT. Directed by Jace Rocker; starring Kaitlyn Ashley, Nikole Lace, Jessica James, Melanie Moore, Christina West, Tony Tedeschi, T. T. Boy, J. B., Jace Rocker and Jonathan Morgan. Videocassette: Sin City.

At his best, which is when he keeps his mouth shut and his dick hard, hyperactive porn stud Jonathan Morgan is an annoyance. In Starlet, Morgan is an anti-erotic menace, relentlessly working a retard Groucho Marx schtick between every schtup and, boy, does it not work. Kaitlyn Ashley, Jessica James and Christina West, Starlet's starlets, do work, though better as poster girls for bad breast jobs and badder acting than as cream-screen choad targets. Melanie Moore's breasts are bogus without surgery (at least she doesn't act), and Nikole Lace is pretty, especially with labia in her face; but a lone-stroke lesbo tussle between Lace and Ashley at the tape's end hardly keeps Starlet out of the toilet. Catch this falling Starlet only if desperate.

—S. H.

STARLET: Ashley offers Lace labia lunch.

Battered woman.

Disorderly eaters.

Sweet. Not neat.

A mess-terpiece.

WHAT A MESS!

Ever notice a beautiful, immaculately groomed woman and wonder what she'd look like covered in paint, submerged in pancake batter or adrift in a pool of chocolate syrup? How about an effervescent blonde doused with honey, walloped in the face with baked goods, and then dumped with a girlfriend into soupy, extremely fecal-looking mud flats for sloshy, loopy, light-lesbian frolics?

Messy Fun Video makes such fancies reality.

Since 1989, Messy Fun has been producing titles such as Splatgirl, The Wetting and Tails of the Wet Messy—slop-erotic masterpieces depicting all the behaviors described above and then some. Any slime, goop or sludge that can be sprayed, dribbled or hurled onto female flesh—fully clothed and stark nude alike—is seen doing just that courtesy of Messy Fun Video.

For your own Messy Fun, contact M.F.V., P.O. Box 181030, Austin, TX 78718-1030.

Crazy Love

HALF ERECT. Directed by Bud Lee; starring Asia Carrera, Anna Malle, Kylie Ireland, April, Rayveness, Jonathan Morgan and Joey Silvera. Videocassette: Vivid.

It's a wacky world full of nutso iniquities, but none more unfairly loony than the half-baked reality of Crazy Love, wherein five perfectly functional female fucks are hoarded with an insane greed by kooky cocksmen Joey "Addlepate" Silvera and Jonathan "Mental" Morgan. Sultry chest icon Rayveness, of the mammoth mammary shelf, raven tresses and pouting, puffy, mouth-breather lips, alone in Crazy 's cast of comely cooze escapes the silly spunk of Silvera and Morgan, reserving her flaps and face for the snatch and snout of an equally pouty, comparably desirous, complimentarily stacked blonde. Silvera may be unbalanced, but he's stable enough to launch a load on the pearly, straight ridges of his brunet, taut-tit partner's teeth. Amazing Asian Asia Carrera carries the brunt of Love 's wad weight, doing Morgan, doing Morgan and a yellow-head broad, and doing Silvera. Love is nothing to get crazy about, but it will provide localized locomotion. —C. S.

CRAZY LOVE: Blonde, bone, bung.

Anal Cum Queens

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Max Steiner; starring Monique, Davia, Paisley, Bridgitte, Alex, Monique X, Max Hardcore and two uncredited guys. Videocassette: Zane.

To see a freshly ass-fucked woman force just-flung sperm wads from her sore, undulating anus in extreme close-up is one hell of a thing. Anal Cum Queens offers a half-dozen such hellish things. Max Hardcore is the appropriately unholy mastermind of this occasionally horrific exercise, in which lithe brunette Monique, bubble-boobied blonde Davia, hippy honey Paisley and beautiful, nasty gash Bridgitte spread their bungs for banging, then dribble seas of putative dick drool back out before the camera's you-are-right-fucking-there eye. Alex and Monique X provide an exception, shitting supposed splooge directly down each other's throats. While it's debatable how much of the milky onslaught pouring from each ravaged rectum is actually man-made infant mix and how much is pseudo-semen special effects, Anal Cum Queens is another appalling jewel in the crown of Max Hardcore, the king of foul, brutal, brilliant XXX excess. —M. M.

The Secret of Her Suckcess

HALF ERECT. Directed by Cheeks; starring Sandi Beach, Lana Sands, Bunny Bleu, Barbara Doll, Sofia Ferrari, Peter North, Tom Byron and Cal Jammer. Videocassette: VCA.

Sandi Beach is a sunny blonde with unenhanced, happy handful boobs, shapely legs and a warm smile that incandesces whenever her physical canals are jammed with turgid, pulsating appendages. Beach's bathroom-floor nailing from Peter North is one hot highlight of the pedestrian The Secret of Her Suckcess; Beach's lesboid flop atop Sofia Ferrari is the other. Bunny Bleu bangs her harsh, huge, fake lung pillows against North; Cal Jammer licks Lana Sands's nonexistent tits while feeding prick into her slit; and Tom Byron tail-bombards Barbara Doll on a comfy-looking bed. What success there is in Suckcess is no secret: Her name is Sandi Beach, and she can suck penis, chow vulva and spread her pussy for pounding with porn's best.

—M. M.

SUCKCESS: Jammer slides jimmy to Sands.

The Voyeur #4

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by John Leslie; starring Laura Palmer, Sabrina Stone, Jessica James, Stacy Spelling, Sofia Ferrari, La Tigra, Paisley Hunter, Kirsty Waay, Mark Davis, Jake Steed, Jon Dough, Dayne Christian, Chaz Chase and Ritchie Razor. Videocassette: Evil Angel.

The premise of the fourth installment of John Leslie's Voyeur series seems to be that the world is full of incredibly slinky, fuck-friendly females who can't wait to get their faces up under a guy's swollen ball sack. Furthermore, the women in Leslie's Voyeur universe live in houses with plenty of windows, and all a guy needs to do is look up from his dick in his hand to see a fine, healthy, big blonde squatting to take a piss, or view four lewd ladies making a twat toy of one man's face, fingers and gonads; or ogle a serpentine, deep-tanned, snaky-ass sister as she scratches her snatch and flexes her sphincters straight out of the shower, then gets all dirty and sticky with a pair of filthy bastards; or leer at a pulsating penis as it pulls out of pussy to shoot across another chick's lips. John Leslie knows where to look, and he lets us all see.

—C. S.

Pubic Access

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Walter White; starring Juli Ashton, Tera Heart, Jeanna Fine, Sandi Beach, Anna Malle, Danyel Cheeks, Rebecca Lord, Roxanne Hall, Shelby Stevens, Rebecca Wild, Jon Dough, Ron Jeremy, T. T. Boy, Steven St. Croix, Tony Tedeschi and Tom Chapman. Videocassette: VCA.

Seeing that XXX director Gregory Dark is doing so well with self-parody, his parent company has started aping his zany slant on hard-core humping themselves. Witness the White Brothers, Walter and Greg, who are responsible for Pubic Access, a rotely whacky whack tape with humor epitomized by the pun of its title. Nobody will be laughing when Steven St. Croix pulls his rigid dick from Juli Ashton's fecund hot slot and milks wad on the ebullient, boob-rich blonde's sincere grin. A sleazy off-brunette spreads her pastrami pussy for a hungry man's tongue; thus nourished, he stands her on her head with his rod planted in her ass, then semen wipes the smirk right off her slatternly face. Who's smiling now as four more fuck holes face up to thick, scummy testicle blasts after being cock-hammered in head, pussy and ass? Pubic Access 's jokes fall flat, but everything else goes up.

—C. S.

PUBIC ACCESS: Stevens, Hall, Beach and Fine, and how!

Careena Collins

Porn Queens of the Past Return:

BACK ON TH

Amber Lynn. Christy Canyon. Careena Collins. Jeanna Fine.

The above roster embodies everything that was right about mid-1980s porn: Women with succulent bodies and inhibition-free libidos who lit up the blue screen simply by walking onto it, then melted laps as they sank into the swirl of fucking and sucking.

Those mourning the absence of such stellar, consummately carnal starlets in modern-day sex tapes can relax: Mademoiselles Lynn, Canyon, Collins and Fine have returned to the raunch-movie fold themselves.

Ashlyn Rising

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Layne Parker; starring Ashlyn Gere, Nina Ha... Rocco Siffredi, Sean Michaels, Alex Sanders, Colt Steele and Mark Davis. Videocassette: Vivid.

According to the plot requirements of Ashlyn Rising, Ashlyn Gere is suffering debilitating problems getting in touch with her sexuality. She is squeamish about masturbation and afraid of her own erotic fantasies. To the informed observer, swallowing the frigid-Ashlyn contention is akin to believing that a hard dick is not for stroking, but both these false beliefs fall away by the time Gere is finished ingesting rod orally and vaginally, sucking snatch with unfeigned frenzy, opening her own labes to desperately lapping tongues and lips, spit charming the constricting melanin of Sean Michaels's mandingo boa bone, basking her face in sloppy dollops of cock sap, and watching an animal hump of beastie beauty Anna Malle. Ashlyn's rising, and the viewer probably will be too. —C. S.

RISING: Michaels gives Gere what he's made of.

3 Naked Ambition

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Eduardo Di Nero; starring Juli Ashton, Porsche Lynn, Tera Heart, Vanessa Chase, Kirsty Waay, Rebecca Lord, Roxanne Hall, J. R. Carrington, Jonathan Morgan, Peter North, Dave Hardman, Nick East, Colt Steele, Tom Byron and Steven St. Croix. Videocassette: VCA.

Convoluted, stupid and improperly cocksure, Naked Ambition is an almost inadvertent stroke-fest—its wanking success due entirely to the flick's top-flight, palm-chaffing female boff brigade. Steven St. Croix plays a novice movie director whose mixed-up jizz biz adventures are intended as high porn satire: Character names like "Mary Juana" and a film parody entitled New Wave Chicken Head Harlots indicate how high the satire flies. Nick East butt-reams receptionist Tera Heart across her desktop at (tee-hee) "VPA Pictures"; Vanessa Chase parks her perfect twat and tail between the scrods and rails of Tom Byron and Colt Steele; Kirsty Waay and Porsche Lynn make Dave hard, man; Juli Ashton opens for St. Croix cock plop; Ashton, Rebecca Lord and Roxanne Hall trip the light lesbianic before Jonathan Morgan deposits his unwelcome man meat between them; Lord laps Lynn snatch; and St. Croix sticks dick to J. R. Carrington. Whenever Naked Ambition gets ambitious (which is too often), it's embarrassing; over-reaching auteur Eduardo Di Nero is saved only by the grade-A caliber of the assembled flesh, suggesting that VCA would do well to cast him into the casting department. For good. —S. H.

are times when I'm disappointed with this white supremacy crap. The white race is not God. No wonder all ethnic groups can't get along. It's the lack of interracial sex in the movie/magazine industries. —G. M.
Honolulu, Hawaii

Is the lack of interracial sex in movies and magazines the cause of racial strife, G. M.? Or could it be ignorance and intolerance? Ask Butch, in our July issue, as he's putting his melanin hose into pretty pink Peaches.

A Hard Job

As I sat looking through the excellent July '95 Anniversary Issue, I was delighted with your photo-shoot of Butch and Peaches (Butch and Peaches: An Affair to Remember). My question is, what is Butch's problem? It's not just this issue, but a lot of past issues with boy/girl shots. I fail to see how Butch or any other guy can be with a tasty-looking babe and not have a full erection! I get rock hard looking at these layouts! I can only imagine how I'd be with a hot babe, or even a couple for that matter. I'd be breaking boards with my cock. Yet whenever guys appear with babes in HUSTLER, the latter always appear to have a death grip on the guys' cocks in an effort, I guess, to make them appear hard! Do they get paid not to become erect? Or don't they enjoy who they're working with? C'mon guys, let's get with the program and give the babe what she wants!
—Firm in Florence
Florence, Arizona

Excellent question, Firm, but being with a lady as hot as a HUSTLER Honey can be overwhelming. Having a photographer on hand doesn't make things any easier. There's a lot of pressure on a guy to perform. Sometimes he pops his wad two or three times while the camera's being loaded. We don't always enjoy the liberty of waiting for him to get hard again.

Delayed Release

As a frequent reader of HUSTLER, I really enjoy the reviews and classifications of the adult videos in Erotic Entertainment. My only complaint is that in this part of the country, the titles I read about in HUSTLER aren't available until nine months after they've been reviewed. By the time the videos reach us, I've forgotten the films and the ratings they received. Do you put out a list of these flicks every three months or so? Is it possible to let me know what the procedure is? I would like to know if it's possible to receive a book or whatever, even if it's a year old. Naturally, if there is a charge, let me know and bill me. —W. L. T.

BLOW POP

I'm writing this letter with shaky hands, and a hard dick. One hour ago I was driving my ice-cream truck like a lunatic, rushing to drop off a 62-year-old man who suffered a heart attack on my route. The doctors called me a hero. If they knew the truth, they'd shit their white uniforms.

Even though it's still hot as fuck outside, not too many people feel like buying ice cream in December. I've supplemented my income by selling pot to neighborhood kids. When I saw an ancient codger in a suit approach my truck, followed closely by a hot, young piece of ass, I figured her for a dime bag and him for a narc. I was wrong on both counts.

"I am Bruno, and this is my granddaughter Maddie," announced the Germanic grandpa through thin, twitchy lips. I'd be nervous, too, spending the day with a 19-year-old redheaded bombshell whose teats were verboten to me by state law. And what a pair of teats: pear-shaped, pert boobies, like sundaes topped with erect nerps. Her skin was creamy and sprinkled with freckles. Best of all, her perfect legs stemmed out of a ridiculously short, black miniskirt, with just a peek of white panties drawing my eyes like a cotton magnet.

"Excuse me," barked Bruno, clearly aware that getting his Good Humor was the farthest thing from my mind; getting her good pussy had become job one. "Maddie has requested a split banana." I watched the fiery-haired minx roll her eyes, obviously used to being humiliated by Grandpa's bad English. Suddenly, she fixed me with a hot stare that seemed to say, Let's dump the old fart and get it on. Maybe I was just projecting the feelings that emanated from the bulge in my jeans. Either way, I had to make my move.

"One split banana coming up," I proclaimed cheerfully. After making quite a show of picking the longest piece of fruit and muttering, "That's about right," I tore off the peel and tossed it into the street with a flick of the wrist. Next came the line of stock flirtations: "Do you like nuts?" "How about I spray whipped cream all over your scoops?" "You look like you'll have a cherry; am I right?" That horny bitch licked her bee-stung lips and answered every question yes.

I finished my masterwork and handed it over to Maddie, who took the opportunity to stroke my palm with her middle finger. Shit, a chick hadn't tried that move with me since junior high! After digging in his wallet, Bruno witnessed our silent exchange, and hurried over to pull us apart.

"That'll be quite enough. Here's your three doll—ulp," he gasped. Tragically, Bruno had slipped on the banana peel and knocked himself cold. I had to stifle hysterical laughter as Maddie and I loaded the unconscious coot into the back of my truck. I grabbed an ice-cream sandwich and laid it on his head as a cold compress.

"We must hurry to a hospital," Maddie moaned. "Papa has a weak heart." She stifled a smile at the edge of her fuck-me pout.

"There's not a second to spare," I concurred, whipping out my choad which, in fact, truly is the size of that big banana. Maddie's eyes grew in quiet admiration. Abruptly, she dropped the miniskirt, and peeled off the cotton panties. Her bush was adorably fluffy, and strawberry-blond. A strange look of penitence flashed across Maddie's blushing face, and she turned her heart-shaped ass my way.

"Spank me," she whispered. "Spank me like Papa does when I have dirty thoughts."

"What are you thinking?" I rasped, stroking my rock-hard cock.

"I think I want to fuck you on top of the freezer Papa's lying in."

Maddie bent over the assortment of Drumsticks and Orange Dreams. She slid an index finger underneath and parted the lips of her bright-pink cunt. Like a child playing with a newborn kitten, Maddie tenderly stroked her downy folds. When I couldn't wait any longer, I pounced on her velvety cheeks, and slapped them with such force it took Maddie's breath away.

"That's it," she panted. Red handprints blossomed like flowers on her fair skin. "Tell me I'm a bad girl. Tell me—" I cut her off mid-sentence by pressing my bulbous dickhead against her parted lips.

"No more games, bad girl," I growled. "Now, suck this creamsicle. There's a gooey surprise in the middle." Maddie quaffed as much meat as her tiny mouth could manage, then gagged. Although an inexperienced cocksucker, she soon worked up a decent rhythm. I pulled out my tool, along with a trail of saliva. This was the rare on-the-clock experience I wanted to prolong.

Maddie lifted her T-shirt and bunched it up over those cute-as-a-button flops. She mashed the ripe tit meat against both sides of my python, bouncing up and down with girlish laughter. The truck shook from side to side, until a box of lime Popsicles landed next to us and broke open.

"I've been a bad girl again," sang Maddie with an impish glee. Face down and bottom up, she offered herself for punishment. This time I had a surprise in store. I unwrapped a Popsicle and took a few sweet licks of its sugary pleasure. Not wanting to appear impolite, I offered Maddie the same.

"Bad girls don't get treats," she sighed. "Don't you know how to play?" I had a pretty good idea, and it involved pressing the icy dildo against her delightfully puckered bunghole. Maddie gyrated in ecstasy as I pushed in the Popsicle, all the way to the stick. I licked the sticky, green melt-

HUSTLER MAGAZINE

OWNERSHIP HAS ITS PRIVILEGES

Better a Buyer Than a Browser, Borrower or Beggar Be

HUSTLER Magazine is the most potent and indelible provocation to prurience known to man. Recent studies have determined that the HUSTLER Honey has prompted more and better erections than has the combined influence of all printed sex scenes published throughout history. Another well-established fact: A man can glance upon a crackling HUSTLER model, walk away, and jack off to that four-color vision of carnal heat—up to 16 hours later.

Any observant human who buys HUSTLER Magazine has seen his so-called friends come over, peek into his hard-earned HUSTLER, then depart on a mission of sudden urgency. Newsstand operators decry the furtive shoppers who flip through a HUSTLER, put America's Best back, pay for a copy of Martha Stewart Living and rush off, hand in trouser pocket, holding that HUSTLER-inspired hard-on down until reaching a safe haven in which to spill their shoddy seed.

Look-but-don't-buy jackoffs believe they are getting a free whack. Do these misguided penny-pinchers realize what they are missing? Life for the HUSTLER Buyer, be he subscriber or occasional single-copy purchaser, is a fine and varied fling of loving, lusting ladies and all the lavish luck they bring.

Life for the HUSTLER Browser is a turd of a baser color.

In every man's life, bewitching opportunities for sexual adventures abound, but laboratory tests conclude that life's magic moments are markedly more blessed for the man who not only enjoys HUSTLER, but buys it as well.

Take heed, tightwads: Mooch no more. It's time that all men share in the better life that is enjoyed by those who read, and buy, HUSTLER Magazine.

"Dick my pussy," she wailed. "Get me off....It's the only way to save Papa!" Maddie may have been one sick fuck, but her vage muscles were the healthiest I've ever buried sausage in.

ings as they dripped down her snatch.

Trembling, Maddie rolled over on her back while I caught her clit between my teeth. She bucked her hips and replaced the Popsicle stick with her middle finger.

"Dick my pussy," she wailed. "Get me off....It's the only way to save Papa!" Maddie may have been one sick fuck, but her vage muscles were the healthiest I've ever buried sausage in. By contracting her snatch in a viselike grip, she crammed my crank with ball-popping urgency. I pulled out after only a few strokes, unleashing a deluge of briny juices from Maddie's slit.

"Papa," she cried, fingers stirring against her nasty love button.

"Oh, Papa, I'm coming!" Maddie was lost in her own little world. That didn't stop me from milking my boner all over her jugs. As the last drop splattered against her chin, the freezer burst open. Bruno was answering Maddie's call.

"Mein Madchen," he screamed, witnessing the sloppy, spermy mess I'd made of his granddaughter. "Vas ist—urk!" Bruno fell back into the freezer, clutching his chest.

I shut the lid and groaned, "Here we go again." Maddie sucked me off all the way to the ER.

AMUSEMENT PORK

Driving my wife, four kids and mother-in-law to Florida was no treat, but those hours steering the station wagon to Ally Gator's Fun Land paid off hot and wet. I'm not just talking about the sweat that soaked my brow as I stood in endless corrals of sunburnt tourists, enduring Everglades heat. In all honesty, the climate was only partially responsible for the perspiration that flushed my armpits. Two buxom beach bunnies—one blond, one brunet—waited in the turnstile ahead of mine, clad in pink thong bikinis that threatened to burst with every jiggle. My eyes darted between their sinewy legs, booming ass cheeks, and washboard stomachs. I would have given a year's pay to trade places with the glistening beads of sweat that trickled down every inch of the duo's sun-kissed skin. Their bare bodies seemed to shine with the familiar copper tone of...my mother-in-law's cough medicine? Judging by the croupy hacking behind me, she hadn't taken her morning dose.

"I'm not riding Ally's Whip Lash by myself," wheezed Mother. The old bag grabbed my two eldest daughters by the wrists, and dragged them onto the coaster.

"Looks like I'm stuck with the babies," my wife groused. She shot me a look and added, "You can ride alone. I can't listen to any more Boston accent-elicited titters from the mega-titted pair across the tracks." I raised a sheepish smile as a park attendant pulled up a car and strapped me in.

No sooner had the Whip Lash made a tentative lurch into motion, than my senses were overwhelmed by a blur of bronze and the aroma of jasmine. The objects of my lustful imaginings had leapt over the turnstile and into my seat! I was flanked by mouthwatering mams, whose nipples rose as steadily as the coaster's initial ascent. These young ladies weren't here for the cotton candy; I had to act quickly if I wanted to feed them my corndog. Apparently, my thong-doffing seatmates were thinking along similar lines.

"Thank you for coming to Fun Land," cooed the naked, platinum princess unsheathing my cock. "I'm Dee, and this is my silent partner Tisa. We're the Welcome Committee." The electric fingers stroking my veiny terrain distracted me from questioning the official nature of this visit. When Tisa swept back her chestnut locks and took me into her gently sucking piehole, I simply thanked God she wasn't a pimply adolescent in an Ally Gator costume. Almost all eight inches of my erection plunged down her esophagus with the Whip Lash's first, steep drop.

Dee's tongue flicked the inside of my ear as I ground palm against her bald crotch. Not wanting to be outdone, Tisa inhaled my wang to the root, her vigorous slurping just barely audible over the screams of my oblivious wife and children. I slid two fingers between Dee's puss lips, and jammed two in her bung, as the Whip Lash roared through a dark tunnel. When we emerged into daylight, I was shocked to find Tisa's mouth replaced by Dee's throbbing cunt, heaving up and down my shaft with each hairpin turn. Somehow, this flaxen beauty had braced herself against the car's safety rail, and she worked her maple syrup-colored butt against my lap like a doggy-style piston.

Tisa turned her sucklings to the back of Dee's neck, tracing a darting, pink tongue down her "partner's" long, muscular back. The oral explorations bottomed out between Dee's rubbery hind end, which I helpfully parted. The winking browneye that stared back at me was quickly doused with a well-aimed gob of Tisa's spit. Before the hungry rimmer's fudgery commenced, however, a breakneck 180-degree turn flung Dee off my shvantz and face first into Tisa's splayed, sopping beaver.

As Dee lapped up a torrent of pussy juice, I struggled to position myself behind her exquisitely lubed, airborne ass. I

CAMP SODOM NOMORA

—IT'S A BASH!

Homosexuality is not a joke. Parents with gay boys feel frustrated, even helpless. Knowing a son will have bowel incontinence and a succession of "roommates" for the rest of his life can be devastating for concerned parents; especially if they did their best, and their son still came out queer. Families are torn apart by the sinful abomination known as sodomy (which is, by the way, illegal in most states). There is, however, no need to give up hope. The trained professionals of Camp Sodom Nomora are here to help. If your son likes balls but displays no interest in athletic activities, two weeks at CSN will straighten him out. For the boy who hangs out with boys who call each other "girl," Camp Sodom Nomora is a must. For parents who fear never being grandparents, Camp Sodom Nomora is a happy alternative to a life of barren shame.

DAY ONE—HIS LAST GAY ONE

Some campers may be reluctant at first. A little time at our instructive camp, and your boy will be a lady's man—rather than a man's lady.

CAMP SODOM NOMORA

OUR STAFF OF PROFESSIONALS

Our staff of caring, uninhibited sex guides can fix even the most disoriented kid. We believe in removing all homosexual temptations, which is why Ron Jeremy is our only male counselor. The Hedgehog, a male embodiment of aversion reinforcement, also discourages deviant sex play with rodents.

BEFORE

Appropriate decorum is a must when it comes to setting the tone for our instructional program. Fey, invert magazines and anal-attentive tidiness are not tolerated and are punished with due severity.

AFTER

Model rooms are rewarded with positive reinforcement from our warm, personable counselors.

CAMP SODOM NOMORA

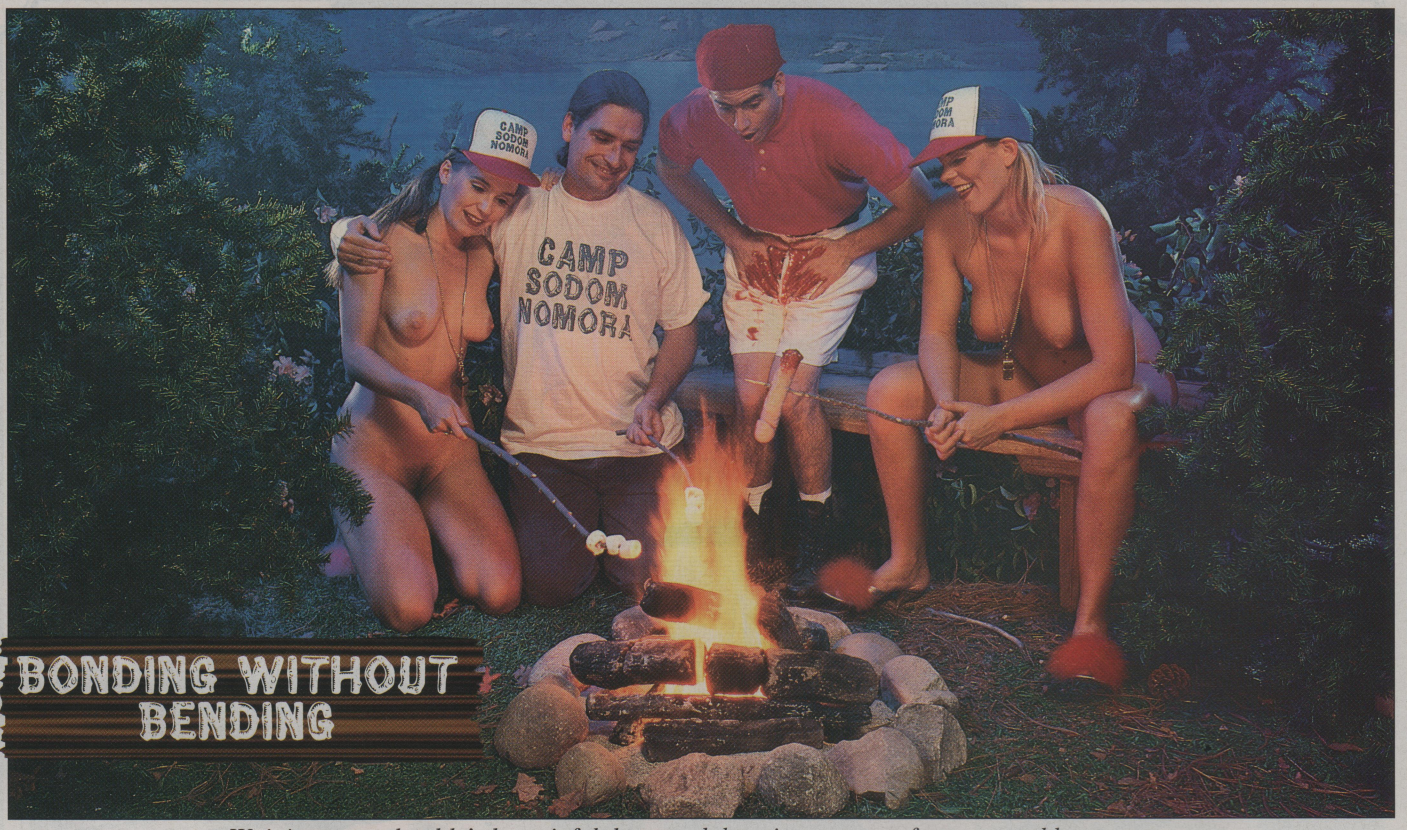
HANDS ON THERAPY

Arts and crafts time may prove difficult for campers who won't change their queeny ways, but our vigilant counselors are always nearby and ready to provide solid guidance.

FROM BLOWJOBBER TO H_2O JOBBER

Swimming classes are ideal for tutoring limp-wristed lads on the source of life and breath.

CAMP SODOM NOMORA



Weinie roasts shouldn't be painful, but tough love is necessary for some stubborn cases.

By the end of the Sodom Nomora term, campers and counselors come together in a beautiful way.

Impressed by the copious amount of spunk that fell from my upside-down wang, Tisa gurgled, "That is how you can tell a man who has not been with a woman for a long time."

grabbed a fistful of yellow mane for support, and watched my rod sink into Dee's anus like a knife through pound cake. Her sphincter muscles shuddered under the impact of my drubbing. Pumping that big butt had me ready to burst, but Tisa cut off my spunk by firmly yanking my balls.

"So good," muttered the heretofore silent partner in a thick, Mexican accent. As the Whip Lash circled a 60-foot statue of Ally Gator, the horny Hispanic spit-shined my nads, rolling them in her yap like two hairy huevos. Dee pried her rectum away with an audible pop, then went down and gulped my knob clean. Thick, caressing lips engulfed my genitals in a flurry of gentle biting and suction. I reached to finger their cunts, driving both bitches into a tail-wagging frenzy.

I came to a shocking revelation as the girls came in a mutual, howling climax: The Whip Lash was heading for its grand finale, a three-ring loop that turned the coaster completely upside down, again and again. A dilemma arose. How to bust a nut before disembarking, without Dee and Tisa falling out of the car to their deaths? If they didn't get off their knees, and into the seat restraints, the mess on the tracks could take hours to clean—not to mention the psychological scars inflicted on my children. However, calling attention to the potential dangers ahead would mean the end of my humjob, which had reached the fever pitch of starving third-world children devouring a stray dog. There was no easy answer.

The Whip Lash climbed the first loop, and my voice of reason spoke up. Dee and Tisa are professionals—just sit back and let them worry about it! I reveled in the combination of centrifugal force with the testicular force that threatened to blow a hole in the back of Dee's head. I held my suckmates firmly in place, saving their lives and quashing the threat of blueballs.

The coaster gathered speed, easily clearing the second loop. Dee spit out my cock and jacked it off so violently, I feared having to explain a crude castration to my wife later. Instead, at the peak of the final, dizzying loop, I sprayed a tidal wave of semen, the likes of which I didn't even know my body could stockpile.

Impressed by the copious amount of spunk that fell from my upside-down wang, Tisa gurgled, "That is how you can tell a man who has not been with a woman for a long time." The words haunted me as the three of us quickly gathered our clothes.

The Whip Lash pulled into its station, and parked in front of a crowd of huddled tourists. My wife peeked her head out of the middle and frantically waved. The look of distraction on her face assured me that she didn't notice the sweaty, nearly naked goddesses that pinched my ass as I hurriedly climbed over the turnstile. Heavy wheezing and hacking that could only emanate from my mother-in-law boomed through the park.

"Mother's been injured," my wife cried. "She can't see! Some kind of oil splashed into her eyes on the ride."

"I'll sue," screamed Mother. "I'll sue everyone!" Other passengers chimed in, pointing to "oil" stains in their hair and all over their clothes. As the wife noticed, even I bore marks all over my zipper.

The ensuing case of The People v. Ally Gator made many of us rich, but I'd give it all for a Ferris-wheel ride with Dee and Tisa. Now, as I lie writing quietly next to my sleeping, frigid wife, Tisa's words—A man who has not been with a woman for a long time—ring truer than ever. —E. W.

Clothes Make the Man

Lusting for Women in Uniform

By Don Vaughan

Dennis, a Florida banker, met the woman of his dreams in a greasy diner. He was choking down another flavorless hamburger during another harried lunch hour when he spotted her two booths away—one of Miami's finest, a chick cop dressed all in black. Dennis's cock immediately begged to fuck her.

Tall, with strawberry-blond hair held tight in a bun, the police officer wasn't particularly attractive, Dennis admits. She was rather plain in the face, and her ass was a little too big. But these flaws were more than mitigated by the police badge perched over her left breast.

It took all the willpower Dennis could muster to approach the rookie cop and ask her out.

"Alice and I went out for three weeks before we finally had sex," Dennis relates. "It was several more weeks before I felt confident enough to ask her to wear her uniform to bed. I thought she'd be shocked—maybe even a little angry—but she acted as if it were the most natural thing in the world."

Alice surprised Dennis the following night by disappearing into the bathroom and returning in full police uniform—right down to the handcuffs and nightstick. "You're under arrest," she announced with a practiced glare, before cuffing her helpless boyfriend to the headboard of her bed.

Alice kicked off her regulation leather shoes and slowly stripped off her slacks to reveal the tiniest G-string Dennis had ever seen. Still wearing her shirt and badge, Alice placed one foot on the bed near Dennis's shoulder and slowly stroked her cunt with her hard, black nightstick.

"Once she was wet," Dennis recalls, his breath a little ragged, "she ran the nightstick slowly over her tongue, then slithered out of the G-string and climbed aboard my prick. She unbuttoned her shirt so I could see her tits, but she wouldn't take it off no matter how much I begged. When she leaned down to kiss me, and I felt the cold metal badge against my skin, my cock blew a wad.

"She was in complete control—there was nothing I could do. She fucked me at her own pace, doing whatever she wanted. I came like a goddamn geyser inside her—and then she made me do it again in her ass."

A woman in uniform—whether it's a waitress, cop or old-fashioned French maid—is one of the most common turn-ons among American men, according to sex researchers. Some guys pop a boner at the sight of a nurse in a starched, white dress, while others regularly fuel their hottest fantasies by asking their lovers to don a cheerleader's getup or a Catholic schoolgirl's jumper.

Dr. Judith Seifer, a sex therapist from Lewisburg, West Virginia, and president of the American Association of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists (AASECT), discovered firsthand the amazing sexual power of a woman in uniform when she worked as a registered nurse years ago. She found that male patients hit on her constantly whenever she wore her regulation white dress.

"None of my nurse training taught me how to deal with that, but I learned in very short order," Seifer laughs. "I would say, 'Down boy!' or 'We're certainly feeling better today, aren't we?' "

The attraction of women in uniform works on a variety of levels, says Seifer. Often, the appeal lies in surrendering to the authority that a uniform typically represents.

"Giving up control is very seductive to a lot of men," Seifer notes. "Much of that has to do with how role-ridden men are today.

"Take the surgeon who must be in complete control in the operating room all day, or the banker who constantly worries that his bank is going to be taken over. These men might find a woman in a nurse's uniform very appealing because it allows them to relinquish their own power and let someone take care of them for a change."

"Having authority and power has traditionally been atypical of women; so a woman in uniform is new, exotic and very exciting," adds Dr. Michael Perry, a sex therapist from Encino, California.

On a different level, he says, some women in uniform—such as police officers, fire fighters, postal workers and soldiers—are seen as doing a man's work in a man's world, and therefore may be viewed as equal to men (or at least more understanding), and thus more available.

On the other hand, states Perry, "Since these women are emancipated, liberated and just as tough as men, it could also be considered a challenge to bed one of these wild creatures. If she's especially attractive, the challenge is even greater."

For pawn shop owner Eric D., fucking a female naval cadet made one of his biggest fantasies a reality.

"Her name was Constance, and she was a friend's cousin visiting the area on liberty," Eric recalls. "She was lanky and muscular with short, red hair and almost no tits. When we first met, she was wearing her dress whites, sort of a military skirt-and-blouse outfit, and the sight brought my cock to full mast. I invited her over to my place the following evening to watch a movie. When I asked her to wear the uniform again, she just smiled."

Constance did as Eric requested. "We drank a little wine and watched some stupid video that I can't even recall now," Eric says. "We started necking like "That grease-stained polyester uniform rubbing against my naked body sent me over the edge in about two minutes. Now I can't go into a diner without getting a tremendous boner."

teenagers halfway into the flick.

"After a lot of kissing and groping, Constance knelt on the floor, unzipped my pants and began to suck me off. It was an incredible turn-on to watch her head slowly bob in my lap while she wore that Navy uniform. I was about to come in her hot little mouth when she stopped and practically begged me to fuck her doggy-style. So I flipped up her starched, white skirt, yanked down her cotton briefs and went in. She was moaning and screaming like a bitch when I finally shot my load inside. That was choice."

AASECT's Dr. Judith Seifer believes that most hard-core cases of uniform lust are the result of learned behavior, and can come from something as subtle as a domineering mother who might have worn a uniform.

"It's much like a fetish, in that a man at some stage of development sees a woman in a uniform and for whatever reason it elicits a sexual response," Dr. Seifer observes. "The sexual responsiveness is laid off on the uniform, not the person or the situation or anything else. It's much the same way that some men displace sexual arousal onto big boobs or blond hair. This is not a quirky or unusual thing. We all learn what arouses us."

Of course, an appreciation for a woman in a uniform does not a raging fetishist make. "A fetish is a very narrow turn-on," explains Dr. Michael Perry. "Some men are attracted only to breasts, some only to short women, some only to women in uniform. If that's the only thing that arouses you, then it's a fetish."

Rarely does an attraction to women in uniform qualify as a fetish, says Dr. Seifer. "Many men are turned on by a uniform," she notes, "but few actually need it to have sex."

Much of the fantasy sparked by women in uniform is born out of cultural mythology, according to the AASECT president. "The mythology is, all nurses fuck like rabbits," she observes. "All flight attendants are hot to trot. Yes, they're behaving in a socially appropriate fashion when they have their uniform on, but you get them naked, and they're going to be wild. That feeds a lot of fantasy: 'Boy, what I could do with her once she's out of that jacket.'"

For Mark C., a hospital data-processing supervisor, the fantasy involves waitresses.

"I don't know why waitresses turn me on so much, but I can't deny the fascination," Mark admits. "I try to date waitresses whenever I can. Most of them are pretty cool about it when I ask them to wear their uniforms to bed.

"One really cute waitress named Roxy, who works at a turnpike truck stop near my home, was especially accommodating. On my 40th birthday, she invited me over to her house for dinner, and waited on me as if I were a regular customer. She took my order, served me my dinner and basically waited on me hand and foot. When I told her I had no money for the bill, she told me that I'd have to pay for it in trade, and led me into the bedroom.

"She unbuttoned her uniform just enough to show me her gorgeous tits held high in a push-up bra, but she didn't take the uniform off because she knew it turned me on so much. She slowly undressed me and kissed my body until my cock was hard. Then she made me go down on her.

"After she came twice, she lay down on the bed, pulled her uniform up around her hips and spread her legs so I could fuck her. That grease-stained polyester uniform rubbing against my naked body sent me over the edge in about two minutes. It was the best birthday present I'd ever received. And now I can't go into a diner without getting a tremendous boner."

Some women might be uncomfortable fulfilling their partner's request that they wear a certain uniform to fuck in—especially if the requests are frequent. In these cases, Dr. Seifer advises, the couple needs to sit down and talk it out with honesty and an open mind.

"The woman needs to express her concerns about the situation, and the man needs to couple his request with the very clear message that this would be fun, and he'd like to have it, but that it's his partner he really loves. He needs to tell her, 'It's not just the uniform that turns me on, it's you in the uniform.' Otherwise, his partner may feel she's just a mannequin."

The therapist remembers one case in which a career military officer and his wife were at odds because he wanted her to wear a military uniform when they made love. The wife refused, and the couple soon ended up in Dr. Seifer's office, desperate for help.

"She didn't understand why he wanted her to dress up like that," Dr. Seifer recalls. "She wondered, 'What is this? I have to look like everyone you work with all day? Who are you turned on by at the office that I'm dressing up as?' But it wasn't that at all. He merely wanted a woman who wasn't an officer to tell him what to do."

By dressing up in uniform at a loved one's request, women have as much to gain as men. "Women can get in touch with their own power," Dr. Seifer declares. "That kind of role reversal is very positive for both partners if you have enough of a trust level to be able to act it out. After all, what harm does it do if he asks you to wear your school crossing-guard uniform to bed?"

"Don't heal me—I'm on disability."

TALK RADIO

FICTION BY R.M. THURLOW
ILLUSTRATION BY GODFREY DANIELS

THURMAN TRUDALL CAN SWITCH RADIO STATIONS WITH THE TURN OF A KNOB, BUT CAN HE EVER SHUT OFF THE VOICES IN HIS HEAD?

Talk Radio

"So tell us," the voices said. "You got the weather over with. So what's the secret? What's the big, dark secret in your crummy little life? I mean funny little life." Static-static-static.

The awful voices were back.

"Hey, ho, what a way to go," they said. "You know—you know what the problem is with the Yankees? They have to play baseball."

Yak-yak-yak.

"If they could only play soccer, or tennis, they might be a great team," the voices said. "But they have a franchise to play baseball."

Static-static-static.

"What about french fries? Who wants french fries? Let's order up a barrel of french fries and dump it over the producer's head."

Thurman Trudall tried to keep his eyes from opening. He often thought that if he could prevent that simple act in the morning, things would go a lot better. Once they opened, he had to do something about what they saw: his radio, blasting away with insanity; his watch on the bed table, beckoning to be fastened to his wrist; the light on his bed table, waiting to shine; his suit standing imperiously on his clothes caddy. That would be the view when he awakened on his left side. If he awakened on his right, he would see his wife.

"Les Lewis, your chopper bopper," the voices said, "just bopping along this morning among the thunder bumpers. And there's a big one down there—or up there, depending on where you are this morning."

STATIC-static-static.

"Hey, my man Les, from the Wes, can't you turn that whirlybird sideways and just blow this stuff out of here, man? We need sunshine—ol' sol—the big S, man. Let's do it!"

If he awakened from sleep on his back and opened his eyes, he would see the ceiling. Long ago, it had occurred to him that this was by far the most pleasant view—or, at any rate, the least demanding.

The ceilings that covered the waking and sleeping hours of his life were invariably the same: white. It was possible to awaken almost anywhere: in the bedroom of his childhood, where a faint filigree seemed almost like very distant clouds; in the bedroom of his college days, where the stucco sometimes seemed about to drip on him; in the bedroom of his apartment, where the light reflected from the fish tank in the window bobbled around like a soggy sun; or in the bedroom of Glenda's apartment, where a stain denied the pleasure of white nothingness.

"I have a secret I've never told a living soul," the voices said. "Do you want to hear it, Jerry?"

Yak-yak-yak.

"Honey, honey, where do you tell this secret? In funeral parlors? Is that what you think of The Jerry Block Show? Hey, I'm all laid out, baby!" the voices said.

Static-static-static.

"No, Jerry, I think you're great. I listen every day, every morning."

Thurman put his hands over his face. "God, what morons," he said aloud.

He squeezed his eyes shut and turned over on his back. He reached down and touched his erection. He caressed it with satisfaction and abandoned it with regret.

"So tell us," the voices said. "You got the weather over with: clouds followed by rain, followed by clouds, followed by thunder. So what's the secret? What's the big, dark secret in your crummy little life? I mean funny little life."

Static-static-static.

"Well," the voices said haltingly, "when I was 14 years old, I lived in another state. It was down South, but I won't say the state. I lived on a farm, and it wasn't near a big city. My family didn't have much money, and I had six brothers and sisters.

"One day, one of my aunts invited my sister and me to go to the beach with her and her husband because she knew we never got to go anywhere, and she liked me. It was 300 miles away, and it took a while to get there, and it was hot.

"My sister and I weren't crazy about the idea of going anywhere with my uncle, because he looked at girls kind of dirty, and he said dirty things when he got you alone. But we figured my aunt wouldn't let anything happen to us, and we'd never seen the ocean before."

Sunlight began to pick its way between the leaves of the obstructing trees. It touched the delicate optic nerves of Thurman Trudall with an opalescence that tempted him to raise his eyelids to the morning. But he resisted.

He rolled over onto his left side again and thought of his 48 years. This would be one more day in the long train of days that had become the track of his life. To start another 24 hours of sameness, of trivia, of pressure, of pointlessness, of waking to morning talk shows was too much. It would have to be postponed.

He clamped down his eyelids like a

Destiny
SLASH AND BURN
Photography by Matti Klatt

"A couple of years ago, I almost died when my house caught fire," reveals dream date Destiny (A Date With Destiny, November '95). "I was trapped in my upstairs bedroom, with flames licking at my body, the crackle of burning wood all around me, and death imminent. I never came so long and loud in my life. The smell of smoke still makes my nipples stand on end, and the clanging of a fire engine is like an alarm going off in my pussy.

"Consequently, I relive that day quite often—taking every safety precaution, of course."

How can setting a house on fire be safe?

"I call the firemen ahead of time. They don't mind coming, as long as they all get to use the hose."

climber clenching his toes and fingers to a rock face, fearing to fall. The fall, he knew, would carry him forever from viewing this smooth, white, new ceiling, this handsome, solid, carefully landscaped house, the expensive cars in the garage, the well-hewn job, the pleasant marriage, his life. It was the paradox that bedeviled him. To open his eyes one more time and save himself by losing, or keep his eyes closed and lose himself by saving himself.

"When we got down there, it was beautiful—so different," the voices said. "There was the ocean, and the boardwalk, and music, and lights, and all that kind of thing.

"One night, my sister and I went out on the boardwalk alone and met this boy we had hung out with on the beach the day before. He was cute, and he had his own car, and he had an apartment with his friends from college.

"We went to his place, and I guess we had too much to drink. We weren't used to it. My sister and I both had sex with this guy. A couple of months later, we found out we were both pregnant. My father would have killed us; so when we told our mother, we blamed it on my uncle. We said he raped us on the trip, and we couldn't help it. But we said our aunt didn't know about it."

There was a ghastly silence in his mind. His eyelids almost opened, but through a superhuman effort he fought back the urge. Waking in the morning used to be to music—to jazz, to swing, to silly, innocent songs, to naive commercial messages, to dumb things that held off the world until you had at least had a first cup of coffee. Thurman checked his erection again. It was gone, like most night things.

"Wow, hoo, hey," the voices said. "You set your own uncle up for a rape rap, and your sister went along?" The voices said, "And now for a commercial message from First National Bank of New Jersey. Your friendly bank. If you have a need. If you need to have. If you don't know where to turn. Turn to where you find a friend. First National Bank of New Jersey. The friendly place that's all over the map."

Yak-yak-yak.

"Who writes this stuff? If they bought more than ten seconds, they could be even worse."

Static-static-static.

"And now on with our soap of the day: 'I've Got a Secret,' or 'Two for the Price of One,' or 'Family Rape Ropes in Uncle Vanya.'"

"I taught him that! Cool, huh?!"

Yak-yak-yak.

"Hello. Helloooo! Little sharecropper with the sexist relative, where are you?"

"I'm here, Jerry," the voices said. "I was waiting for the commercial to be over."

Silence.

"Well?" the silence said.

"Well, when we blamed it on our uncle, our getting pregnant, there was a big fight. My father went over to my uncle's to beat him, but my uncle was bigger and stronger than my father; so my father got a broken jaw and a damaged eye. Then my father got some friends to go after my uncle, and they put him in the hospital with broken ribs, internal injuries and stuff.

"When my uncle got out of the hospital, they had a trial, and he was sent to jail. He got ten years with time off for good behavior.

"So then my aunt and her side of the family wouldn't have anything to do with our side of the family, and she called us whores and inbred and just about everything. And it was just like an old-time feud. She sued us. My brother's house was burned down, and I know she had it done. And my sister's baby was killed in a car crash, and I know my aunt had something to do with it, because the tires were slashed. Sally lost the use of her legs and everything below her waist."

It was like an impingement on his heart; a sudden pressure that seemed about to force it to stop. Thurman Trudall took a deep breath to get his heart going again. Heart attacks struck most often in the morning hours, he told himself. Surely there was more warning than this—signs along the way, pain, skipped beats, shortness of breath. He had had none of these. Was it really the name?

The sun rose higher, warming his bald spot. He redoubled his efforts to keep his eyes closed. The radio droned on.

"Hold it, hon! Hold it right there. While Sally regains the use of her legs, we'll listen to this message from Farmer Motors," the voices said. "That sounds wrong, doesn't it? Like it should be Farmer Tractors or Farmer String Beans or something? Or Farmer Cow Chips? Good for what ails ya."

Yak-yak-yak.

"But no, it isn't any of those," the voices continued. "It's Farmer Motors. Need a car? Need a van? Need a truck? Too dumb to steal one? Too lazy to earn one? Then go to Farmer Motors and buy one so cheap, you won't ever have to steal or earn money again just to own a car. Talk to Big Rich Bundy over there, and he'll straighten out your thinking about buying a car, van or truck pretty quick. Or he'll straighten you out. No, he won't. Just kidding, Big Ed," the voices said. "Sorry—make that Big Rich. No, by golly, he'll put you in the best darn car, van or truck you could ever imagine. You can imagine, can't you? So get on down toooodaaay. Farmer Motors, at 212 Valley Road, your headquarters for darn good used cars in the Valley. And now back to the saga of 'Sally's Sister Shares a Secret.' You there, doll? Let's hear the next chapter."

"How did you know my sister's name, Jerry?" the voices said. "I didn't want to use anybody's name."

Yak-yak-yak, the voices said.

"You tell me," the voices shrilled. "You're the one who gave out her name."

Yak-yak-yak.

"Hey, this isn't the blockhead show; it's The Jerry Block Show. C'mon, little lady, get on with it."

"I forgot," the voices said. "I'm sorry, Jerry. What happened was that after my sister's accident, we got the law on my aunt, and they arrested her, and she had to go to court. But they found her not guilty. So when she got off, she started a whole bunch of legal things against us and, through one thing and another, we lost our farm.

"The family just sort of drifted apart. My father got a job on the railroad, and my brother and other sister left town. And then I left not long ago. My uncle killed himself in jail after a while. He left a note saying he couldn't stand being shut up anymore, and he couldn't escape. And he said how bad my sister and me were to accuse him wrongly."

Thurman Trudall had lain like a corpse through the revelations of the voices. His arms were at his sides. The rising sun had passed over his bald spot, briefly warmed his nose and was moving unevenly across the bedclothes toward his feet. His eyes were full of light, but not sight.

In his mind, he could see the two girls. The sex acts being performed. The incredibly white and sun-reddened, squirming bodies. The naked lightbulb hanging like an observing eye from the ceiling. The voluptuous excitement of it. He touched his penis and was surprised at how hard it had become. He held it in his hand, waiting.

Yak-yak-yak, the voices said. They said it was time for a word from The Club, to protect your car; they said it was time for station identification; they said it was time to get back to Jerry Block's Hour of Secrets show.

"My baby grew up beautiful. A little girl. Now she's all grown up and married and has a nice place and children of her own," the voices said. "So it wasn't all bad. It turned out all right for her. And I'm all right. I'm married again and all."

"My God, woman," the voices said. "You destroy all those lives, and you say it turned out all right?"

Static-static-static.

"Well, I didn't cause it, Mr. Block," the voices said. "You wanted to know peoples' biggest secrets; so I told you mine."

The Jerry Block Show said, "But you lied about it, and everybody paid for it. Your uncle died, your sister was crippled, her baby died." The Jerry Block Show paused. "Whatever happened to the guy who made you and your sister pregnant?"

Long silence.

"Well, I don't know. I don't even know who he was. So how could I find him?"

The Jerry Block Show recorded a click at the end of the caller's line.

"Can you imagine that?" The Jerry Block Show said. "The bimbo gets herself pregnant and wipes out the family because of her lies about who did it."

Yak-yak-yak.

"Imagine if the guy happened to be listening now, what he might be doing."

Thurman Trudall began masturbating slowly, still with his eyes closed, still with the vision of the two squirming bodies. Abruptly, he turned to the right and opened his eyes to behold his wife's sleeping face. In a second, he was on top of her, covering her breasts with kisses, attempting to thrust his erection up into her, feverishly grasping her buttocks to raise them to him.

It was her blazing eyes that came alive first, then her writhing body shaking him off, then her angry, guttural voice. "For Christ's sake, Thurman! Have you gone crazy?" She put her knee in his stomach and blew the wind out of him. She pushed him to the side so that he nearly fell off the bed. "Is sex the only drive you have?"

Thurman Trudall stood up naked, glared at his wife, went into the bathroom and closed the door. He looked at himself in the mirror. He stood at the toilet and took his faded erection in his hand. He began urinating and crying at almost the same instant.

Getting Away With Getting a Little on the Side

LESSONS IN LECHERY BY MAX BALLY

ILLUSTRATION BY DANNY HELLMAN

Divorce courts and lawyers' offices are littered with the bones of poor assholes who knocked off an extracurricular piece, thinking they were invincible. The following ten tips will keep the carefree cocksman from getting caught with his pants down.

Cheatin'

Make no mistake; the minute there's a whiff of foreign quiff, even the most brain-dead, couch-potato wife will come to life as if a mainline of adrenaline had been shot into her cortex.

Ellis W. III graduated from Harvard at the top of his class, then walked through one of the best business schools in the country for an MBA. His first year on Wall Street, he cleared two hundred grand. Within ten years, he was clearing more than a million in bonuses alone.

Two years ago, Ellis was the kind of guy who could put together a hundred-million-dollar deal and yawn. He had a duplex on Central Park East, a former fashion-model wife, a boat and a house in the country.

Today, at age 47, he's sitting in his office lighting one imported cigarette off another, guzzling antacid straight from the bottle and popping Xanaxes as if they were after-dinner mints.

At night he sits in the tiny, prison-cell-like room that he rents at a private club, watches reruns on a small portable TV and compulsively gobbles down handfuls of Count Chocula and Lucky Charms. He estimates that he's gained 40 pounds.

"I don't go out at night much anymore." He leans across his cluttered desk. "They're after me. Everywhere I go, I know they're following me. Everywhere. I know they have someone here in the office, watching."

His voice trembles slightly, and a sweat breaks out on his brow. His eyes stare at an imaginary object 1,000 yards away.

What did he do to bring this on himself? The answer is, not much. He banged a little salesgirl who worked at a fashionable Madison Avenue boutique. At first he was careful, then he got stupid. He started thinking that the nooners at the Plaza, the expensive gifts to the girlfriend and the weekend "business trips" to the Bahamas were safe. He started thinking he was "European," and that stashing a little something on the side was sophisticated.

But he thought wrong. When his wife caught on, she unleashed an army of lawyers and private investigators whose reign of terror has lasted a year and a half.

Her hired sharks found and accounted for every cent Ellis ever made. The bank accounts in the Caymans with his mad money, the investment-quality gems in a bank vault in upstate New York, even the wine collection, were put into play at depositions. They did everything but turn over the cushions on his leather couch.

Ellis figures that by the time his wife's minions are through, he'll be lucky to get out with ten grand to his name—about as much as he spent on his last weekend trip with the salesgirl, who is now history.

As for his wife, at every meeting she sits across the table from him, flanked by two legal assassins from a high-dollar law firm. She's calm, cool and collected, her nipples hardening under her silk blouse in expectation of the big payday.

Make no mistake; the minute there's a whiff of foreign quiff, even the most brain-dead, couch-potato wife will come to life as if a mainline of adrenaline had been shot into her cortex. And once she and her lawyer latch onto a cheating fool, there's no stopping them. They'll dog him until he's afraid to pull his dick out to take a leak.

Luckily, there's help for aspiring adulterers. Following are the top ten mistakes men make when stepping out on their wives. Culled from extensive research conducted among lawyers, private investigators and a variety of sorry sons of bitches who got caught, this list is guaranteed to save at least one careless cunthound's ass.

1. Never lie to the girlfriend

She may be a barely legal bimbo who thinks she has a bright future folding jeans at the mall, but as sure as the sun comes up and a prom queen goes down, if she finds out loverboy is married when he said he wasn't, she will get him. She's going to stay up nights thinking of ways to make his life a living hell. Brain cells that never saw a lick of duty will fire up with the spark of vengeance.

Tell his wife? Sure, she'll spill her guts to his wife over coffee in his kitchen. He'll be lucky if she tells just the wife. How about telling Casanova's boss about all those charges on the expense reports?

"I got greedy," confesses 36-year-old Todd V., a former manager at an international freight company in Portland, Oregon. "I had this thing going with another manager, and it was great. Then I fucked it up by cheating on her with another girl at the office. At worst, I figured that if she found out, it would be a scene; you know, ugly, but still personal."

It stayed personal—a paycheck is about as personal as a guy can get. Todd hasn't worked in more than a year, and may not work in his chosen profession ever again. Supported by his oblivious wife, he gets up bright and early and pretends to look for a job. She thinks it's the economy, and blames his unemployment on the Japanese and politicians, but Todd knows better.

"I'll tell you this," he cautions, week-old want ads spread out in front of him.

"When Tia and I met," relates dark, sultry Taylor, "we knew we were meant to be friends. We look alike, we talk alike, we dress alike—"

"When we dress," interjects duskier Tia, giggling.

"—and we fuck alike. See," Taylor explains, "I actually prefer men."

"Oh, yes—I actually prefer men too," chimes in Tia.

"I mean, I'd much rather sit on a cock than feel Tia's slippery, wet tongue wiggling around in my cunt," Taylor moans.

"And I'd rather get razor burn on my tits than feel Taylor's soft lips sucking on my nipples," gasps Tia.

"We're just helping each other out until some guys come along," pants Taylor. "It's important to be open-minded."

Great minds think alike.

Cheatin'

The only thing that sets a wifely nose twitching more than the pungent bouquet of strange pussy on her man is the aroma of fruity, perfumed soap. Keep a manly deodorant bar at the girlfriend's place.

"Never, never, never fuck somebody from human resources."

After the human resources manager compared notes with the other girl Todd was plowing, they plotted in tandem to sink his career. Clients mysteriously vanished, rumors began circulating about a drinking problem, files were erased from his computer. His performance reports suffered, and every second of his day and every piece of his work were scrutinized by his immediate superiors.

Todd suspected what was going on, but assumed it would die down as weeks, or even months passed. One should never assume. His ex-girlfriends had been planning the main course for months; all they needed was an opportunity.

"My secretary quit," relates Todd, "and the personnel bitch sent an applicant up for me to interview. My office door was shut, and I was chatting about the computer system and the job with what I thought was a legitimate candidate. All of a sudden, she stood up, opened the door, shouted, 'My God, you pig!' and split. I didn't know what was going on."

Todd found out what was going on the next day when the communal fax machine spit out a letter from the bogus applicant that expressed her outrage and desire to sue. The fax detailed Todd's supposed suggestion that she audition for the job after working hours by climbing up on the conference-room table on all fours, putting on a dog collar and leash, and "poodle barking" while Todd rammed a dildo up her heinie. Needless to say, a leash and dildo were quickly discovered "hidden" in the conference room.

"It's bad enough they got me fired; I could almost understand that," Todd whines. "But the letter made its way to just about everyone in the business. I can't even get a reference, because all those calls are fielded by personnel."

2. Don't try any new sexual tricks learned from the girlfriend on the wife

It's only natural for a guy to want to show off, but he shouldn't do it at home. If he can point to something in a magazine and show his wife, fine. But if out of the blue he hangs a trapeze over the four-poster one night, the Mrs. is going to notice the change.

3. Don't dress, look or smell out of character

Sure, she's 22 and thinks it's adorable when her balding, potbellied sugar daddy dresses up as a grunge rocker. But the wife's going to know that he didn't abandon those cardigans and wing tips to impress the connubial partner. Always stash play clothes at the girlfriend's flat.

A newfound concern over love handles may induce Don Juan to suddenly start working out at the gym three times a week, interrupting his TV-watching and beer-drinking schedule. Go to the doctor for a physical first. Ask him if he thinks it's a good idea to start working out. Have him write down that it is, and be sure to make a show of the doctor's orders for the wife.

Finally, when washing off the scent of the girlfriend's snatch, don't do it with a bar of soap that smells like a flower shop. The only thing that sets a wifely nose twitching more than the pungent bouquet of strange pussy on her man is the delicate aroma of fruity, perfumed soap. Keep a manly deodorant bar at the girlfriend's place.

4. Don't buy anything out of character

Expensive jewelry, flashy car, surfboard—forget about them.

Grant C., a 45-year-old tax lawyer from Chicago, made the mistake of indulging his girlfriend's enthusiasm for motorcycles.

"I had a scooter when I was in college," recalls the schmuck. "So I could understand the freedom of the road and all of that. Then I went out—I know it sounds ridiculous—and I bought a Harley. Maybe if I had bought a BMW or something, it wouldn't have seemed so obvious."

It was only a matter of days before the biker tax lawyer and his girlfriend had logged sightings by business associates, neighbors and relatives.

"I guess my wife at first thought I was going through a mid-life crisis," Grant says. "Then she started getting the calls. I'll never forget her last words to me as we left the lawyer's office. She said, 'Vroom, vroom, asshole.'"

5. Use a fake name when checking into hotels or motels

Don't go to the same hotel all the time either. For that matter, don't become a regular anywhere—at restaurants, clubs or bars. Regulars are remembered. Sure, they get better service, but there isn't a hotel clerk, bartender or waiter on the planet who wouldn't sell a guy out for 50 bucks. For better service, tip 30%. And don't go to places usually frequented with the wife. There is no excuse for that kind of stupidity.

A mortician was embalming a corpse when he noticed that the body sported an immense, bulging erection.

After several attempts at hiding the unsightly package, the undertaker gave up and called the stiff's widow to explain the problem.

"Cut it off," the woman said, "and stick it up his ass."

The mortician did as he was told, lopping off the penis and wedging it deep inside the dead man's rectum.

At the wake the following evening, the wife of the deceased approached the casket. With a glint in her eye and a half-smile on her face, she leaned toward her former husband and sneered: "Hurts, doesn't it?"

Question: What do you get when you cross a crooked lawyer with a crooked politician?

Answer: Chelsea Clinton.

While waiting at the airport, Brenda hopped on a scale that dispensed fortunes for a penny.

"Your weight is 114 pounds," Brenda's fortune read. "Now proceed to terminal eight, where you will enjoy sexual intercourse."

Astonished but curious, Brenda went to terminal eight. Sure enough, a handsome stranger followed her into a restroom, and they got it on in a toilet stall.

Immediately afterward, Brenda rushed back to the scale. "Go to terminal ten," the fortune insisted this time. "You will pass gas."

Brenda followed the instructions, and she cracked a wicked stink blast just as predicted.

Finally, Brenda fed the scale her last penny. It produced a card stating: "Nice going, you dumb bitch. While you were busy fucking and farting around, you missed your goddamn flight."

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines near miss as: A guy whose sex-change is half-done.

On tour in New York City, Pope John Paul II asked his chauffeur if he could take a shot at driving. The working stiff gladly handed the wheel to the holy man, then relaxed in the back seat.

The Pope was a decent motorist, but a wrong turn led to him being pulled over by a young traffic patrolman. Moments later, the cop phoned headquarters in a panic.

"Chief," the rookie whimpered, "I've just stopped someone really important. What should I do?"

"Just think, son," the senior officer said. "Is he more important than the mayor?"

"Yes!" came the reply.

"Is he more important than the governor?"

"Absolutely!" the cop answered.

"Is he more important than the President?"

"He must be," the nervous policeman reasoned, "because all I know is that the Pope is driving him around in a limousine!"

Question: What has four legs and one arm?

Answer: A pit bull on his way home from the playground.

During an army war-games exercise, the battalion commander found his jeep stuck in the mud. Spying a group of enlisted men lounging on a nearby hillside, he called the soldiers over to help get his vehicle back on the road.

"I'm sorry, sir," one of the GIs responded to the request. "We've been classified as dead, and we're under strict orders not to participate in any maneuvers whatsoever."

The colonel nodded grimly, turned to his assistant and barked: "Very well. Corporal, throw some of these corpses under the rear wheels for traction!"

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines pole vault as: The place where a lesbian stores her dildos.

I'm beginning to suspect my wife is dead," Frank intoned.

"What makes you say that?" Fred wondered.

"Well, the sex is the same," Frank observed, "but the dishes are starting to pile up."

Is World Overpopulation a Myth?

Report by James W. Harris * Illustration by Alex Ebel

BOTH ECOLOGISTS AND ECONOMISTS AGREE THAT THE CURRENT WORLD POPULATION OF 5.5 BILLION WILL DOUBLE WITHIN THE NEXT HALF-CENTURY. BUT NOT EVERYONE AGREES THAT THE BOOM WILL BRING DISASTER.

Population

"Why do we listen to fools?" asks syndicated columnist Walter Williams. "It's not just these recent doomsayers who have been wrong—doomsayers always have been."

"The battle to feed all of humanity is over. In the 1970s, the world will undergo famines—hundreds of millions of people are going to starve to death in spite of any crash programs embarked upon now."—Paul Ehrlich, The Population Bomb (1968)

"One thing seems safe to predict: Starvation and epidemic disease will raise the death rates over most of the planet."—Paul Ehrlich, The Population Explosion (1990)

In 1968, Stanford University biologist Paul Ehrlich published an apocalyptic work that shook the world. In The Population Bomb, he declared that, because of overpopulation, civilization was doomed.

Throughout the 1970s, Ehrlich predicted that 65 million Americans would die of famine, and a worldwide total of four billion people would perish between 1980 and 1989. U.S. citizens might have to wear gas masks simply to walk outside in the polluted air. The oceans would be totally dead by the summer of 1979. The environment would be destroyed beyond repair. The only way to save the world would be to slash the world population, said Ehrlich: "We might, for instance, institute a system whereby a temporary sterilant would be added to a staple food or to the water supply."

Such dire scenarios made Ehrlich a household name, an international celebrity and a regular guest on The Tonight Show. However, around the same time, a University of Maryland economist named Julian Simon declared that Ehrlich's predictions were, simply, bunk. In particular, Simon maintained that none of Ehrlich's major predictions regarding vanishing resources would come true. Simon predicted that the price of vital resources, far from skyrocketing because of scarcity, would actually decline indefinitely—despite a fast-growing world population—as technology became more efficient.

Ehrlich scoffed. But in 1980, Simon challenged him to put his money where his mouth was. He made Ehrlich a bet: Pick $1,000 worth of any five metals, then check the prices for that same quantity of metal ten years later. The loser would pay the difference in prices, up or down.

Ten years later, Ehrlich quietly mailed Simon a check for $576.07. During the period of the bet, the world's population had grown by almost a billion. Yet the price of every metal Ehrlich picked had plunged by over 50%—proof, Simon declared, that the world was becoming richer in resources, not poorer. Subsequent events have proven Ehrlich's major predictions similarly wrong across the board.

"Why do we listen to fools?" asks syndicated columnist Walter Williams. "It's not just these recent doomsayers who have been wrong—doomsayers always have been."

Plato worried that the earth was getting too crowded. In the second century A.D., the Christian writer Tertullian expressed fear that there were too many people for the earth to support. In 1798, the British economist Thomas Malthus did some mathematical calculations and came to the conclusion that the booming population of the world would shortly outstrip the earth's ability to provide food and shelter. Thus, civilization was irreversibly, inevitably doomed.

Although Malthus was wrong—and in fact, later recanted—the notion that the world faces imminent catastrophe because of overpopulation is still commonly believed today.

At the 1994 convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, David Pimental, professor of agricultural sciences at Cornell University, declared that the growth of the world's population—estimated by the United Nations to reach 10 billion in the next half-century—is heading the planet toward "absolute misery, poverty, disease and starvation." The solution, he says, is to limit families around the world to an average of 1.5 children, and help cut the current world population of 5.5 billion down to a more manageable 1 or 2 billion.

And Paul Ehrlich, three decades after The Population Bomb appeared, warns that if the population problem continues to be ignored, the world "will be trapped in a downward spiral that may well lead to the end of civilization in a few decades."

The notion of a population crisis is so ingrained that most people are unaware that there is even an opposing view. Yet many scientists, economists and journalists today argue that there is no population crisis at all, and that the earth can easily support many billions more people, at ever-rising living standards. These population revisionists, derisively dubbed "cornucopians" by their opponents because of their belief in a prosperous future world, argue that the doomsayers have engaged in simplistic mathematic progressions—just as Malthus did at first—and ignored the way technology, human ingenuity and powerful market forces have always made past dire predictions meaningless.

"That sounds like it would be fun, but I've already got plans for this evening."

SELENA
Photography by Matti Klatt
ENCAGED TO BE MARRIED

"When my fiance brought me here from Italy, I was so happy. I didn't know he was going to keep me cooped up like some exotic bird," complains Selena, kicking at her golden confines. "And all because of that little party I threw. I thought he wanted me to make American friends."

Selena plucks petulantly at a fresh bouquet of roses from her husband-to-be.

"He's crazy to think I'd leave him for another man," she insists. "He owns my heart, my mind and my soul. The other guys want only my pussy—and that's all I give them!"

Population

"We had a breakthrough during the Green Revolution," allows Pimental, "but that's over now. There's no technology around that can keep up with [current] population growth."

As Princeton University demographer Ansley Coale points out, "If you had asked someone in 1890 about today's population, he'd say, 'There's no way the United States can support 250 million people. Where are they going to pasture all their horses?'"

Population alarmists worry about exceeding the world's "carrying capacity"—the ecological ceiling beyond which the land cannot support life. They have observed populations of squirrels and Lapland reindeer exceed local carrying capacities and collapse, and they predict a similar fate for humans.

But, remarks journalist Ronald Bailey, the author of Eco-Scam, "Unlike most other species, we modify the world to suit our needs; we don't have to adapt to its given restraints."

Take food, for example. According to a report by the Washington, D.C.-based Carrying Capacity Network co-authored by Cornell's David Pimental, Americans will be forced to become vegetarians by the year 2050 because of overpopulation and shrinking cropland due to soil erosion and urbanization.

"In the next 60 years," says Pimental, "[the U.S.] population will double, while at the same time 120 million acres of farmland will be lost. Under those conditions, you're not going to be able to grow enough grain to feed the huge number of livestock that will be needed to satisfy the meat appetite of 520 million Americans."

Pimental, who is a member of Vegetarian Times magazine's editorial advisory board, predicts that the amount of land for producing food will drop from 1.8 acres per person to 0.6 acres in the year 2050—not enough to continue supplying the variety of foods Americans are used to, including vegetables. The little available cropland will be used to grow high-calorie, high-protein grains and legumes, and food will cost up to five times more than it does today.

But Dennis Avery, director of the agricultural arm of the Hudson Institute, a conservative think tank in Indianapolis, Indiana, notes that new discoveries in biotechnology make farming more efficient, mitigating the problems of shrinking cropland and soil erosion. He points to the development of bioengineered pork-growth hormone. Hogs treated with the hormone produce low-fat pork using one-fourth less feed grain.

"In effect," says Avery, "the growth hormone will manufacture 30 million to 40 million tons of feed corn a year." In addition, he maintains, developments such as improved hybrid seeds, chemical fertilizers and herbicides can double the yield on good cropland—and taking more from fewer acres will build topsoil.

"There's every reason to believe we should be able to feed the growing U.S. population...from less land than we're farming today," he asserts.

While these are projections, past examples show what technology has already accomplished.

In the 1970s, India was regarded as an international "basket case" that would always have to rely on outside food sources. Anti-population growth guru Paul Ehrlich dismissed as "drivel" and "illusion" arguments by other scientists that new agricultural techniques could help India and other developing nations feed themselves. Yet the "Green Revolution"—the name given to the development of new high-yield varieties of grains—doubled yields in India and enabled that nation to become a grain exporter by the early 1980s.

Thanks to this and other technology, per capita global food production rose more than 10% from 1968 to 1990—that is, it grew faster than the population—according to the Food and Agricultural Organization of the U.N. And according to U.S. News & World Report, the world price of food has dropped by one half since 1970—not a sign that food is a dwindling resource.

While the population alarmists concede these past and current successes, they believe that a ceiling has been reached.

"We had a breakthrough during the Green Revolution," allows Cornell's David Pimental, "but that's over now. There's no technology around that can keep up with [current] population growth."

Echoes Lester Brown, president of the Worldwatch Institute, a Washington D.C.-based environmental-research group: "Much of the world is better fed than it was in 1950. But that period of improvement is ending rather abruptly." Brown points to a drop-off in per capita grain production as evidence that technological progress has peaked. Although grain production rose 30 million tons a year from 1950 to 1984, production per capita fell 12% between 1984 and 1993.

World grain production has slowed, acknowledges U.S. News & World Report writer Stephen Budiansky, but not because of resource limits or technological slowdown. "Grain is in surplus," he explains, "and 46 million acres of U.S. farmland and 11 million acres in Europe have been deliberately idled under government programs to boost farmers' incomes."

"The world has not reached, nor is it near, the upper limits of production capacity," declares B. H. Robinson of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service.

The doomsayers' fear of "running out" of food extends to natural resources and raw materials. In the late 19th century, the U.S. Geological Survey stated that there was "little or no chance" of oil being discovered in Kansas, California or—of all places—Texas. In 1977, President Jimmy Carter declared that the country had perhaps ten years of natural gas left; today the American Gas Association says there is enough gas to last between 1,000 and 2,500 years at the current rate of consumption. In 1972, an influential best-seller called The Limits to Growth predicted that the world would run out of gold by 1981, oil by 1992 and copper by 1993.

The Limits to Growth predictions were obviously off base, as Eco-Scam author Ronald Bailey notes. The U.S. Bureau of Mines estimates that current world reserves of copper, for example, will last 65 years.

But the abundance of this resource is almost irrelevant, says Bailey. Fiber optics and satellites, which allow for the transmission of thousands of telephone calls, have largely replaced copper cables, which transmit only scores of calls. So even if the world were to run out of copper, a readily available and better substitute has already been found, at least for telecommunications. And, adds Bailey, "telecommuting saves millions of barrels of oil." As with food, humans' ingenuity allows them to adapt the environment to their needs.

"People not only consume, they produce," observes Karl Zinmeister, an adjunct fellow of the American Enterprise Institute (AEI), a Washington D.C.-based research organization.

Resources are constantly becoming obsolete, new ones discovered, old ones put to new use. During the 17th century, when the demand for firewood was causing England's deforestation, there were fears of an energy shortage. The impending scarcity led to the development of coal. Two hundred years later, a coal crisis led to the development of an even more desirable fuel: oil.

And, maintains futurist Max Singer, author of Passage to a Human World, barring new discoveries, there is a readily available energy source that ensures against any disastrous future shortage: "That source is solar energy, which everybody agrees will be available for millions of years in very large quantities."

Regardless of the quantities of food and resources available, and the potential for even more food and resources, shortages still exist worldwide. Cornucopians acknowledge, for instance, that hunger remains a great concern—but maintain that it is not due to environmental factors or too many people per se.

"Today—and it has been true for most of this century—famine deaths are political, not natural, phenomena," says the AEI's Karl Zinmeister.

He points to the 1984 to '85 famines of Ethiopia, which killed an estimated million people. In 1975, the Ethiopian dictator, Mengistu Haile Mariam, nationalized all land, collectivized farming, forced the few remaining independent farmers to sell all crops to the government at prices below the cost of production, and shot Ethiopians found "hoarding" (storing grain harvests) and "profiteering" (shipping grain to places without food). Ethiopia, once a grain-exporting nation, quickly became a land of starving millions.

"Fifteen years ago, when I was in those high plains [in Ethiopia], I saw corn that was the envy of Iowa," said Ed Hullander of the U.S. Agency for International Development in 1985. "You don't see that today. It was the policies that stopped agricultural production, that stopped the availability of food per capita, that were the major precipitations of this famine."

Similar attempts at replacing free markets and private farms with authoritarian political programs have helped to create other major famines in the past 50 years. The Russian Ukraine was once called the "breadbasket of Europe," exporting grain throughout the continent, until Josef Stalin collectivized Soviet agriculture in 1929, seizing tools and farm animals and declaring all future production the property of the state. Food output fell. In the absence of any natural disaster, 10 to 15 million people died, mostly by starvation and forced labor.

In another example, one year after Chairman Mao's 1958 "Great Leap Forward" farm-collectivization program, Communist China's grain production dropped nearly 50%, leading 25 to 30 million people to starve to death in the next two to three years.

"Personal incentives for food production disappeared," explains Zinmeister. He points out that grain production in China did not recover until 1978, when Chinese Communist leader Deng Xiaoping's reforms gave most peasant households a small plot of private land and the partial right to sell products in free markets.

Linked with the doomsayers' belief that the world is running out of food and resources is their fear that the earth's life-support systems have been permanently crippled under the weight of too many people.

Land, air and water have suffered because of pollution and past unrestrained development, but the damage is not necessarily irreversible. When Europeans first arrived in what is now the United States, forests covered about 50% of the country. By 1920, that figure had fallen to about 33%. Today, it has risen back up to 40%.

As for the quality of the air and water in the United States, both have improved dramatically in the past 20 years, says Eco-Scam author Ronald Bailey. Thanks to better technology and restrictions on pollution, dangerous air pollutants have declined markedly: Sulfur dioxide emissions are down 25%; carbon monoxide, 41%; major smog components, 31%. In the late 1960s, Paul Ehrlich pronounced Lake Erie dead. Today it's being fished commercially again.

"You can look at Lake Erie or Detroit and see it's gotten better," counters Dennis Meadows, head of the research group that produced The Limits to Growth. "But to leap from that to the conclusion that there has been overall improvement is to look at one person getting rich and say that everybody is better off.

"When a rich country becomes concerned about environmental problems," he continues, "then it can typically develop effective responses."

But that is the point, say the cornucopians. U.S. technological advances, passed along to other nations, help them to produce more food efficiently, and to use land and water wisely and in ecologically sound ways.

"It's not intensive agriculture that's causing environmental degradation in the developing countries," maintains Per Pinstrup-Anderson, director of the International Food Policy Research Institute. "It's a lack of it."

Poverty and a lack of intensive production methods force Third World farmers

Cheatin'

So, three or four times a month, armed with airtight alibis, Russ and the researcher headed to her place after work. His downfall was the researcher's passion for moo shu pork and spring rolls.

6. Don't pocket-litter

Pocket litter's the stuff that accumulates in pockets over the course of the day: matches from restaurants, receipts from a parking garage, movie-ticket stubs. Any one of those seemingly benign items can hang a forgetful philanderer.

There are also extreme stories involving hotel-room keycards and glow-in-the-dark condoms. One research subject for this study got nailed because he pocketed a miniature shampoo from his hotel room. After every date, check pockets, briefcase and wallet—and the car too. Even if the careful cheater doesn't leave anything in the car, he can't be so sure about the girlfriend.

7. Always pay cash

Never use a credit card to entertain the girlfriend. Credit card charges leave a paper trail.

Russ B., a 58-year-old ad executive with a major New York firm, was happily married for 25 years. But his wife "just had a feeling" that led her to hire a private investigator.

Russ figured himself for a smooth operator, making sure that the comely researcher in his office wanted nothing more than a steady string of quickies and maybe a promotion. So, three or four times a month, armed with airtight alibis, Russ and the researcher headed to her place after work. His downfall was the researcher's passion for moo shu pork and spring rolls.

"My wife knew I detested Chinese food," he explains. "But I never even thought of not charging the meals. After all, she never saw the bills."

Posing as a credit-card company official, the wife's private eye called the restaurant to check a "discrepancy" between the customer's records and receipts. When he confirmed the card holder's address, the restaurant manager gave out the delivery address—which was obviously not Russ's. Thirty seconds later, the investigator got the girlfriend's name through the reverse directory.

Russ shakes his head. "One night, I was leaving my girlfriend's apartment, when my cellular phone rang. It was my wife. I said, 'I'm just leaving the office now.' As soon as I stepped out of the apartment, she was standing there, holding her cellular phone, murder in her eyes."

8. Use phones wisely

Immediately after meeting her, code the nice little dish's phone number. It doesn't have to be complicated: Switch the first and last digits of her number, or add one to every odd digit up to nine. When writing down her name, masculinize it: Turn Donna into Don and Anne into Andy.

Don't use the home phone, even if the wife is out. A little-known fact is that most phone companies will provide local-use records on request. The girlfriend could live a block away, and there will be a record of calls to her.

Don't use a credit card (see Tip #7).

Swingers with pagers must set ground rules. Have the girlfriend leave a code on the display. Don't be like the poor sap who came home from work early one afternoon and immediately jumped in the shower. While he washed away the stress of a hard day at the office, his girlfriend paged him, and his wife copied the number down and called her later.

9. Whenever possible, use the girlfriend's car

Maybe Romeo is older and has a nicer car. Maybe the smell of his Mercedes gets the little doll's engine going. But if any extensive traveling is done in the guy's car, the wife is going to notice the odometer turning by leaps and bounds. After every date with the girlfriend, turn the odometer back to zero. And always fill up the tank—using cash, not a credit card, Einstein.

10. Refrain from showing the girlfriend off to the guys at work

In other words, don't use the company seats at ball games, and don't bring her around for drinks with the boys on Friday nights.

Admittedly, it's gratifying to see the envy lighting up their eyes, but don't be tempted. Because one night, a work buddy will be lying in bed with his wife, straining to find something, anything, to talk about, and will blurt out, "Hey, you know what? Please don't tell anyone, but old Charlie's banging some 20-year-old waitress from the Dew Drop Inn." Any guy who thinks that that wife isn't going to burn up the phone lines first thing in the morning doesn't deserve a 20-year-old waitress.

"I burned myself," admits Barry M., a 39-year-old long-haul trucker from outside Scranton, Pennsylvania. "I started seeing one of the dancers at a titty bar pretty steadily. I have a regular run down to Norfolk, and I'd leave a day early to catch her on the way out and see her on the way back too."

Last July, Barry took the dancer on his

to overgraze marginal range land or plow up steep hillsides with primitive methods, says U.S. News & World Report's Stephen Budiansky. On the other hand, modern techniques such as "no-till" farming, which have been widely adopted in developed countries, have both cut soil erosion rates and boosted yields.

"The real threat is not that the earth will run out of land, topsoil or water, but that the nations will fail to pursue the economic, trade and research policies that can increase the production of food, limit environmental damage and ensure that resources reach the people who need them," declares Budiansky. "Embracing the myth of environmental scarcity could, ironically, prompt the United States and other countries to adopt policies that virtually guarantee that the apocalyptic future that environmentalists foretell really does come true."

Advances such as those made during the Green Revolution helped increase food yields in developing nations. But money was needed to fund that technology, and continued funding is needed if technology is to be further improved and given to developing nations. U.S. aid to foreign agricultural programs has been on a steep decline since 1980.

At the same time, say cornucopians, removing agricultural trade barriers, which would encourage nations to produce efficiently (as seen in China in 1978), is opposed by the doomsayers. The benefits of world trade in spreading the wealth have been "overwhelmed" by its tendency to encourage "unsustainable consumption by creating the illusion of infinite supplies," maintained a recent report by the Worldwatch Institute.

Meanwhile, says Stephen Budiansky, government policies of self-sufficiency encourage environmentally unsound and unsustainable practices. In Indonesia, for example, 1.5 million acres of tropical forest have been cleared to grow soybeans for chicken feed at a cost above the world price. In Brazil, rain forests have been cleared and the fragile soils, inherently poor in fertility, have been tilled with the encouragement of government subsidies.

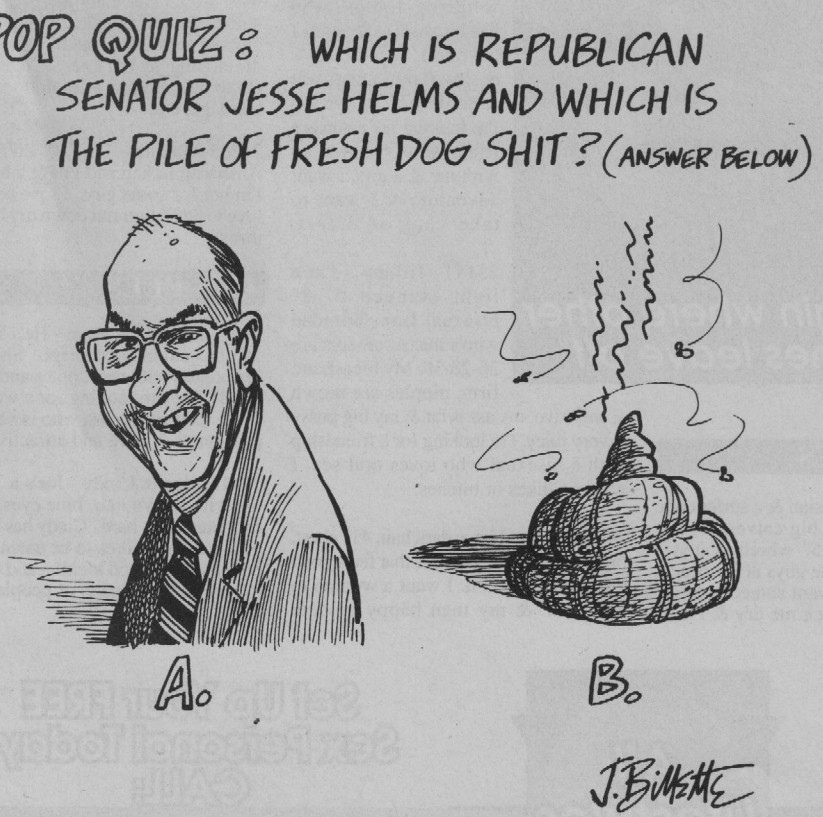
The debate rages on. The cornucopians offer an optimistic vision—and, so far at least, history is solidly on their side.

The population doomsayers argue that the world has merely been extraordinarily lucky—so far. Technology has just bought the planet a little more time.

Who's right? Will it be doomsday or utopia? Stick around for a few more decades and find out.



Cheatin'

regular run, pausing along the way at his usual truck stops.

"If you saw her," he sighs, "you'd remember her by the way she dressed; it didn't leave much for imagining."

A month later, Barry was on a family vacation, checking out Goofy and Mickey down in Orlando, when the phone rang at six o'clock one morning. The wife picked up.

"It was my brother-in-law," Barry shudders. "He had gotten the whole story while he was filling in for me on my route. Every waitress from Scranton to Norfolk remembered her. The guy at the loading dock in Norfolk particularly remembered her. A couple of guys even knew where she worked."

Before Barry could even get down on his knees and grovel, his wife tossed him out of the Magic Kingdom.

"It was the saddest moment of my life, walking out of that place, alone," he laments. "I can understand her brother telling her, but he didn't have to do it like that."

Finally, to paraphrase the words of Lenny Bruce: If confronted, deny, deny, deny. Pick a story and stick with it. But deny any wrongdoing. All that is needed is a reasonable doubt, and each denial plants that seed.

Jerry M., a 43-year-old meter reader from Teaneck, New Jersey, wandered home at 8 a.m. after a night of chasing pussy and drinking to find his wife in the kitchen making coffee.

"So, where were you all night?" she asked.

He didn't have time to think. "I got home late, and you were sleeping," he lied. "So I slept on the patio lounger. It was a nice night, and I looked up at the stars and woke up to songbirds." His face beamed with innocence.

The wife stared at Jerry for a long time, then informed him, "That's a good story, but the patio furniture's been in the basement for a month."

"Well, that's my story, and I'm sticking to it," Jerry replied.

In the end, is it worth it? As one experienced private investigator warns, "If you're cheating, we're going to find out who, where, what and how many times. If it were me, I'd buy my wife a boob job, a couple of pairs of mail-order undies and slap a wig on her head. Ask her to talk with a French accent, or whatever your thing is. In the long run, it's the cheapest way to go."

"My bank's running a promotion where you can have any image you want on your checks...."

The most advanced, easy-to-use system for ever developed is now available . . .

PENIS ENLARGEMENT and ERECTION CONTROL

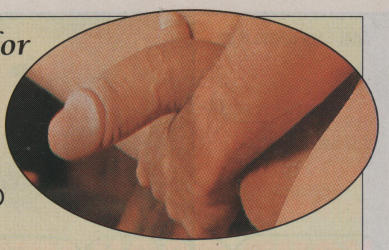
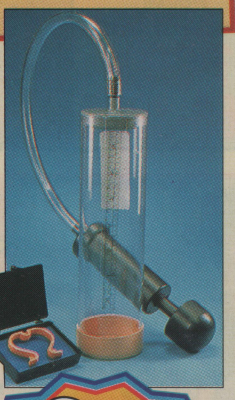
The SUPRA-12 Dual System®

with the patented SENTRY™ Prolong Ring



Now you can GET IT UP with a speed you never thought possible; you can KEEP IT UP at a phenomenally large size you never thought possible; and you can STAY HARD for an incredible length of time you never thought possible . . .



YES! MEN REPORT MEASUREMENTS OF 9, 10, EVEN 12 FULL INCHES ARE POSSIBLE . . .
Watch your penis GROW LONG, GROW FAT and GROW to new startling dimensions!

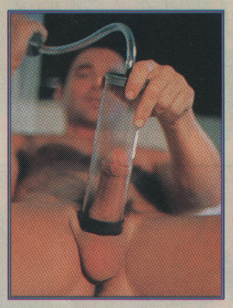
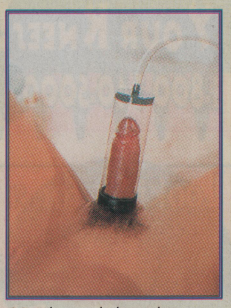
It's easy; when you follow these simple instructions.



1. ANY MAN, with ANY SIZE in its soft state, inserts his organ onto the sleeve of the miraculous SUPRA 12 with the new SENTRY Prolong Ring for erection mastery.



2. Begin the vacuum development phase; see your flaccid, puny organ start to GET LONG, GET FAT, BULGE and GROW . . . to new startling dimensions of LENGTH & THICKNESS . . .

3. IS IT AS BIG AS YOU WANT? Good! Now simply slip the SENTRY Prolong Ring to the base of your penis. You can keep that long, thick hard erection for as long as you wish!

$23.95 plus FREE SENTRY PROLONG RING

HOW CAN THE SUPRA-12 DUAL SYSTEM INCREASE PENIS LENGTH & THICKNESS?

The phenomenon of male erectile response occurs when external stimulation, applied to the glans and penile shaft (see fig. 1) produces increased blood flow into the special muscles which reside in the penis. The increase produces turgidity and engorgement with a corresponding increase in thickness and size until the muscles are at full capacity. By increasing capacity, the muscles can hold more blood, producing a SIGNIFICANTLY LONGER, FATTER, and BULGING ERECTION. This is the principle behind the SUPRA-12, and it is simplicity itself! By using the system and all the components supplied, and flowing the simple directions, any man CAN ENJOY ASTOUNDING RESULTS in augmenting his natural penis size to the VERY MAXIMUM DIMENSIONS of which he is capable!

THE SENTRY PROLONG RING – THE MARVELOUS "BONUS" OF THE SUPRA-12 SYSTEM THAT ALLOWS YOU TO "HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT TOO"!

No penis-building system is any good unless it allows you to enjoy LASTING INCREASES IN SIZE, right? This is where the beauty of the sensational new SENTRY Prolong Ring comes in – it allows you to maintain your NEW BULGING SIZE, and enjoy your hard, virile erection, for a period of time that will astound you – erection control for as long as you want! Not only that, but the SENTRY is simplicity itself; sits quietly at the base of the penis, and never interferes with penetration, the SENTRY is your secret ally in pleasure, allowing you to have intercourse, penetrating to new depths, with an amazing new level of rigidity never attainable before. And then its removed in a flash. All this control literally at your command, at your fingertips!

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS: ULTRA-MODERN TECHNOLOGY AND GOOD OLD-FASHIONED VALUE – SUPRA-12 GIVES YOU BOTH!

It's a fact: Other, inferior systems have half the features as Supra-12, but sell at twice the price, at the very least! Made in the U.S.A. these state-of-the-art vacuum pumps are equal or better than those prescribed by doctors that sell for up to $430. ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTES!

NEW, IMPROVED ELECTRIC MODEL
Plug-in electric pump provides constant vacuum you control! Complete vacuum occurs gradually for safety and provides relentless vacuum without any physical effort. Ultimate in vacuum pump luxury!

"The quality remains long after the price is forgotten." Sir Henry Royce (Rolls Royce)

HOME VIRTUAL REALITY SIMULATOR SYSTEMS

Completely self-contained, designed for personal home use

READY-TO-ENJOY • NO COMPUTER NEEDED!

SEXUALLY ORIENTED ADULT ENTERTAINMENT AS YOU KNOW IT IS ABOUT TO CHANGE FOREVER; IF YOU WANT TO BE ONE OF THE FIRST TO EXPERIENCE THIS INCREDIBLE NEW BREAKTHROUGH, KEEP READING . . .

Put Yourself in These Pictures . . .

cybersex n. (sigh-burr-sex)—a sexual encounter that one experiences utilizing the new technology of "virtual reality," i.e. not occurring in reality, but with all the sensations, pleasure, and orgasmic response of real sex so faithfully duplicated, as to be virtually indistinguishable from the real thing. (See also cybersexual intercourse.)

Virtual Reality is the most phenomenal breakthrough to emerge from science in decades. The whole world is talking about it: The Los Angeles Times Magazine and other major metropolitan newspapers have covered it; Talk-show hosts have experimented with it on national TV in front of millions of viewers; An author made it the subject of his best-selling-book-turned-blockbuster-movie. A popular hotel/casino in Las Vegas has a coin-operated system installed that generates more income than most of its black/jack tables; There are even some fast food restaurants that have installed VR systems, to capitalize on the guaranteed, magnetic draw of such an incredible attraction.

What is VIRTUAL REALITY? Quite simply, it is nothing less than a technology that can virtually re-create reality – every sight, sound, smell, touch and sensation of any human experience can be duplicated, "cloned," with a system that simulates all the sensations of the Real McCoy, and allows a subject (you, for example) to experience and enjoy the little episode as if you were really there; no human being can tell the difference.

Scientists and researchers have actually discovered "the building blocks" of sensory perception, and more incredibly, are able to recreate, or "clone" those patterns, resulting in an experience so indistinguishable from the real thing, that it has been dubbed "VIRTUAL REAILTY."

Since the mind's conscious interpretation of incoming stimulus is what determines the nature of human experience, this means that actual events in human experience can be synthesized, re-created at will, to be "re-played" at any time, with any subject (you), like today's video cassettes, but on a far more realistic level.

As a medium of entertainment, however, its implications were truly astounding. Imagine being able to "relive" any situation you desire, whenever you want, as often as you want to? Imagine "custom tailoring" a sexual experience to your own stringent requirements – every detail, every nuance – exactly the way you like it. Not only that, but also available whenever you want it, as often as your body can handle it! Gay or straight, the subject matter is at your total command; the only limitation is the human imagination. Are you beginning to grasp the phenomenal scope of this discovery?

"We've discovered that our imaginations are like high-powered race cars and in the land of Virtual Realty, there are no speed limits, no stop signs, and you never run out of gas . . ."

Betty Jo and Darryl Sanderson, Spokane, WA*

A consultant named Peter Webber, whose firm had been contracted by major movie studios to research new entertainment technologies came upon this systems at a trade show. In a brainstorm, he realized an as-yet-untapped area that would be an instant hit: SEXUAL EXPERIENCES IN VIRTUAL REALITY – so detailed, so true-to-life, it would be a perfect "clone" of the real thing. Every voluptuous curve of the perfect sex partner would be recreated to your specifications; that indescribable "tingling" in your groin; every sensation of a totally satisfying sexual experience – exactly duplicated – indistinguishable from the real thing.

If the magnificent implications of SEXUAL EXPERIENCES IN VR are still not clear, let's make a simple comparison between REAL SEX EXPERIENCE and CYBERSEX VR SIMULATOR EXPERIENCE:

REAL SEX	CYBERSEX
1. You may never have an experience with the "partner of your dreams."	1. You can enjoy your "dream partner" any time you want.
2. Frequency often depends on mood and receptiveness of female partner.	2. Frequency depends entirely on you; The words "no" and "headache" do not exist in virtual reailty.
3. Risk of pregnancy/disease can interfere and dampen pleasure.	3. The safest and most satisfying sexual encounters known to man – always.
4. Infrequent/not always available.	4. How often can you handle it?
5. Finding and seducing partners can be very expensive.	5. For unlimited experiences, you incur a one time charge that costs less than dinner and a movie.
6. For your pursuit, you need a nice car, a nice pad, nice clothes, and plenty of money.	6. You need only an electrical outlet.

Please note – Virtual reality experience is entirely dependent on the orientation of the user – gay, straight, bisexual, groups, "kinky," or whatever – there is no sexual discrimination in virtual reality!

Perhaps the most wonderful thing about technology is that it constantly seeks to improve upon itself. A decade ago, video cassette recorders cost in excess of $1,000; today they are little more than a tenth of that. And the same is true of Virtual Reality technology; the components that used to cost thousands of dollars can now be had for far less. This fact, coupled with the tremendous resources available to our movie and entertainment industry, make the time "ripe" for a breakthrough of this nature. After 3 years of intensive research, Webber developed the CYBERSEX HOME VR – SIMULATOR SYSTEM. So that the marvels of this new technology could be appreciated first hand by consumers in the privacy of their own homes, at an affordable price.

"Comparing a conventional videotape and a stereo system to a VR (virtual reality) system is like comparing a tricycle to a jet plane."

Kyle Miller, Nashville, TN*

So why isn't this miraculous "DREAM MACHINE" – available on a mass level?

It's simple – the "giants" of consumer electronics don't want to release the goodies yet. They have to keep the price in the stratosphere, to "milk" the consumers, just like they did with VCR's CD players, and every other new development they've come out with.

But it doesn't have to be that way – not this time. Take advantage of this invitation to buy direct. Try out our CYBERSEX HOME VR SIMULATOR SYSTEM. Find out what the noise is all about, and why the whole world is buzzing. We'll ship you the genuine article, lock-stock-and-barrel, ready to use and experience, for only $24.95 each. Or, if you prefer our multi person system will enable you to take that special person or persons through your journey to sexual ecstasy. The price of the multi person system is only $39.95 each. We've got the only system of its kind, right here in the movie capital of the world, ready to ship direct to you; we alone have found a way to deliver a system like this one for this price. Order yours today!

"Mere words and pictures can't describe her . . . my dream girl from "Cyber" . . ."

PENIS ENLARGEMENT

You can thicken, harden, and lengthen your penis to 12 inches or your maximum potential!

The only complete penis enlargement system featuring the largest selling and most successful pump and free step-by-step instructional video and magazine!

Successful results for over 20 years with more than 5 million men!

SUPERSTUD DICK RAMBONE STARRING IN RAMBONE DOES HOLLYWOOD

How can our heavy duty deluxe penis enlarger increase the length and thickness of your penis?

The answer is called hypermia, a medical term to describe blood filling into the caverns of your penis. The caverns expand causing your penis to grow in length and diameter. The superior pump action and sealed vacuum of our penis developer urges your penis to grow to mammoth proportions.

Can I use any pump to increase penis size?

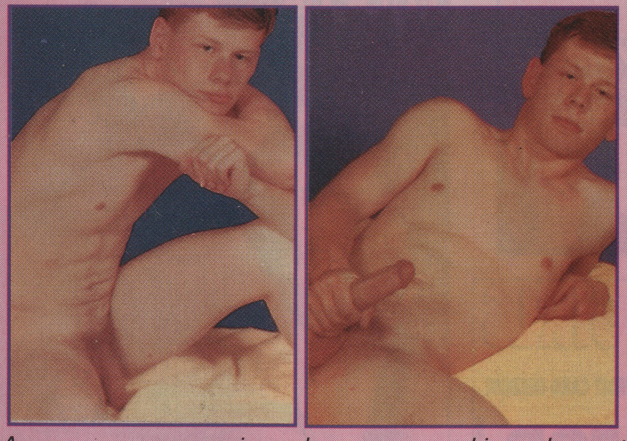
Not exactly. Inferior substitute pumps and electric massage pumps can't help you. You need a quality pump constructed of the finest materials tested and tried and used successfully for over 20 years. Our pump will give your penis increases in length and diameter you never dreamed possible. Up to 10 inches, even 12 inches... or your maximum potential, and you'll see this dramatic increase in size grow right before your very eyes, through the clear housing.

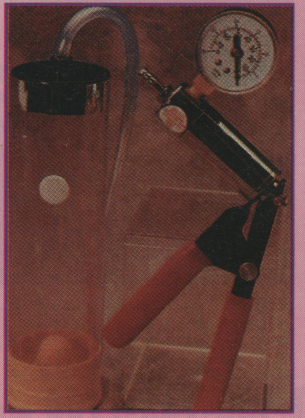
If I have a quality pump, is that enough?

You need to know how to use the pump. This is important! Our instructional video tape and magazine shows you, step-by-step, how to harness the energy of our powerful pump. The video tape and magazine are easy to follow and guarantees you will understand how to use our pump. You will learn how to make your penis thicker and longer by following the easy step-by-step instructions.

The original made in the U.S.A. heavy duty deluxe pump with our exclusive 'Positive-Valve' vacuum system. Over 5 million satisfied customers. Rated No. 1 to be the best pump to enlarge your penis.

You will be pleased with the results and so will your sex partner!





Heavy Duty Deluxe 'trigger style grip' Penis Enlarger with vacuum gauge.

Any man, any age, any size and any race can achieve a longer, thicker, and harder penis!

Our heavy duty deluxe pumps are the same type of pumps prescribed by doctors that sell for up to $500 to help men produce an instant, dynamic, rock hard, throbbing erection. Accept no substitutes.

NEXT MONTH IN HUSTLER

Holiday HUSTLER on sale October 24, 1995

JOY TO THE WORLD

Celebrate the holiday season with HUSTLER as America's Magazine brings joy to the world in a way no one else can. Begin the festivities with a dangerously young-looking blonde, sporting the perkiest tits that ever stood up and said hello; next, party with a curvaceous brown-haired babe vacationing in a sunny Mediterranean getaway, and endowed with natural gifts that would put a grinch in the giving spirit; soak up sun and warm feelings with a curly tressed blond farm girl, tanning and spreading and providing ample motivation to hit the hay; share the revelry of two golden-locked lesbians traveling south of each other's borders, licking lips and labes in a scorching desert atmosphere of cactus and cunt; cruise seaside with a lucky guy and his dark-haired, dark-bodied doll, and see the lotion that this bold brunette prefers to Coppertone. The holiday season would be cold and lonely without the warmth and pussy of HUSTLER. Come in.

NAUGHTY OR NICE?

The bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, brought the growing American militia movement to the forefront of the nation's attention. People were shocked and bewildered that such a terrible act had allegedly been perpetrated by American citizens. Immediately, the militia movement was blamed. Purportedly racist, paranoid survivalists were accused of plotting the downfall of the U.S. government. Are the country's militia members armed lunatics, or simply normal citizens with justified concerns that their constitutional freedoms are in jeopardy? Read America's Misunderstood Militia, a telling report by Larry Wichman, and discover the truth about the armed masses.

WHAT 'TIS THE REASON?

Women: What Makes Them So Special? is Alex Marvel's in-depth reflection on the age-old proverb, "Women—can't live with 'em; can't shoot 'em." From the spiritual to the emotional to the material, men pay dearly to play with the softer sex. Why? What could be worth the trouble, the humiliation, the expense? Read one wise man's explication of the insurmountable lure of pussy, and finally understand that there is no understanding the human male's fatal weakness for the human female.

HUSTLER IS COMING TO TOWN

Bits & Pieces will make readers laugh, and the Christian Coalition cry; Hot Letters tells tawdry tales of tail; Erotic Entertainment keeps video viewers abreast; and Beaver Hunt goes on a photographic safari that shouldn't be missed. HUSTLER's Holiday Issue is better received than given. Get under some mistletoe and greet the season with America's Magazine.
